THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION.

VOL. XXXVII.—NO. 36 ATLANTA, GA., THURSDAY MORNING, JULY 21, 1904—TWELVE PAGES PRICE FIVE CENTS

$20,000,000 FOR BOOSTING KING COTTON

Southern Cotton Corporation Formed in New York With Immense Capital.

COL. MORSE PLACED AT HEAD OF COMPANY

Morse Is Head of Traffic Department of Southern Pacific Railroad. Company Will Work to Maintain Fair Price For South's Staple.

New York, July 20.—(Special.)—Instead of Daniel J. Sully being made the president of the new company known as the Southern Cotton Corporation, with a capital of $20,000,000, to improve cotton culture and method of marketing the staple, that post will be occupied by Colonel S. F. B. Morse, who was a partner in the firm of Daniel J. Sully & Co.

The articles of incorporation of this company were filed at Trenton today. It will have a capital of $20,000,000, of which $5,000,000 will be preferred and $15,000,000 common stock. The par value of the preferred is $100 a share, but the par value of the common, which will be taken largely in the south, will be only $20 per share.

The decision to place Colonel Morse in this position was made by the financial backers of the concern because of the fact that as the head of the traffic department of the Southern Pacific railroad, stationed in New Orleans, he was very prominent in the educational campaign which resulted in the diversifying of the southern crops.

The company controls the Whitman square bale press, which is an improved mechanism for baling and ginning cotton. It will compress as thoroughly as the present round bale, but will not change the shape, and therefore will not meet with such opposition as was encountered by those who introduced the round baling process. Because of the less likelihood of fire, this new bale has already been called the "underwriter's bale."

A comprehensive ware house system will also be established, which will enable growers to hold their cotton, if they so desire, instead of selling in the glutted market in the early season. The board of directors will be announced in a few days. The principal office of the company will be in this city, with branches in various southern cities.

Chartered in New Jersey.

Trenton, N. J., July 20.—The Southern Cotton Corporation, capital $20,000,000, was incorporated here this afternoon to grow and deal in cotton, cotton seeds and their products. The capital stock invested is divided into 50,000 shares of preferred stock at $100 each, with 6 per cent cumulative dividend and 750,000 shares of common stock at the par value of $20 each. The incorporators are Thomas Grasty, of Baltimore; Samuel Morse, of New York and oJhn T. Treacy, of Jersey City.

It is said here, though not confirmed, that this is a reorganization of the Sully interests.

MAYOR'S ANSWER WAS REJECTED

Memphis Committee Present Williams Some Questions.

Memphis, Tenn., July 20.—At a meeting of the committee of public safety held this afternoon, the answer of Mayor Williams to resolutions of the recent law and order mass meeting was rejected. A resolution was passed appointing a subcommittee to call on the mayor and present the following:

"First. We request you to suppress all gambling houses and low dives within the city. Will you do so?

"Second. We request you to close all saloons, tippling houses and all other houses where liquors are sold every night between midnight and 4 a. m. Will you do so?

"We request of you an immediate answer—yes or no?"

Fire and Police Commissioner Walsh has publicly announced that he would cooperate with Vice Mayor Henderson in looking into the conduct of Chief of Police John J. Mason. As Messrs. Henderson and Walsh constitute a majority of the board, it is believed a new chief will be appointed at an early day.

Chief Mason is now in Chicago under the care of a specialist, but is expected to return to Memphis in a few days, when his trial by the board will be taken up.

Bloodstained Furniture Burned.

Belgrade, Servia, July 20.—The bloodstained furniture and the wardrobes of the late King Alexander and Queen Draga were burned in a bonfire in the palace grounds today, King Peter having refused to hand them over to the sisters of the murdered queen, fearing that they might be devoted to political uses.

MRS. MAYBRICK FREE AND OFF FOR FRANCE

After Fifteen Years' Confinement, American Woman Charged With Murder of Husband Leaves England on Ticket of Leave.

Truro, Cornwall, England, July 20.—Mrs. Florence Maybrick is free. She left here at 11:43 a. m. today on her way to France.

Mrs. Maybrick's imprisonment was not terminated with the clang of doors, the last sound which remains in the ears of so many of her fellow prisoners. It closed before the arched doorway of the white convent of the Sisterhood of the Epiphany in this little town, with the black-robed sisters softly uttering their blessings and good wishes for her future. With two companions, Mrs. Maybrick entered the carriage of Miss Dalrymple, secretary of the sisterhood, and was driven rapidly to St. Austell, a small station 14 miles away, where, after exchanging goodbys with her companions, she boarded a train and started on her journey to France. She will not go to America until her presence there is considered imperative.

The greatest secrecy was thrown about Mrs. Maybrick's departure. Mother Superior Julian, of the convent, said to a representative of the Associated Press that under her instructions she must refer all inquiries to the home office. Others at the convent were equally uncommunicative.

At the railroad station orders were issued forbidding the employees to discuss Mrs. Maybrick or even to admit that she was at the convent.

Crowds Marched to See Her.

The little town has taken deep interest in this international figure. Crowds daily stood at the iron gates of the grounds, waiting for Mrs. Maybrick to appear, but they were rarely rewarded, she going out only when the road was reported clear.

When Mrs. Maybrick first arrived here she was kept under strict surveillance, never leaving the convent walls—even for a walk in the grounds she would have to be escorted by one of the sisters. Subsequently she was allowed to walk in the quiet streets of this picturesque place and in the shady country lanes in the vicinity. Those who had seen the published portraits of Mrs. Maybrick soon got to recognize the black-robed woman, with black bonnet and flowing strings, and gave her kindly greetings, which frequently passed unnoticed, Mrs. Maybrick seeking so far as possible to avoid the attention of the curious.

Her time at the convent was taken up by sewing, reading and chatting with the sisters, endearing herself to them by many acts, showing that even the many years of servitude in Aylesbury prison had been unable to stamp out her innate kindly disposition.

Those who have talked with Mrs. Maybrick say in the main that the five months spent at Truro were happy ones. She was compelled to observe the rules of the sisterhood strictly, as the sisters were required to carry out the regimen of the prison, but the rules were not enforced by wardens hardened by contact with criminals, but by friendly sisters who have been companions as well as guardians, and Mrs. Maybrick expressed her gratitude to them on her departure. Her past life was not referred to at the convent, and Mrs. Maybrick never spoke of it.

When Mrs. Maybrick left her peaceful retreat this morning she was dressed in gray. She wore a white bow around her neck and she had on a gray hat with flowers upon her whitened head. These garments were sent by her mother, the baroness de Roques, and were the first colors worn by Mrs. Maybrick since her imprisonment 15 years ago.

The fact that people at Truro knew her by sight and that newspaper correspondents have established themselves near the convent, caused Mrs. Maybrick to determine not to leave Truro by train on departing from the town, but to go to St. Austell, where an express train stopped. After her departure it was said by a sister at the convent that Mrs. Maybrick had given no trouble whatever and that her conduct had been most exemplary.

Mrs. Maybrick is not freed unconditionally; she is out on ticket of leave, but to all intents she is as free as any other person, can go where she will and will not have to make a report to the British authorities. Once Mrs. Maybrick is abroad she will be outside British jurisdiction.

The baroness de Roques has made preparations at Rouen for Mrs. Maybrick's arrival at her quiet home there, where she will begin a new life.

Mrs. Maybrick, who was Miss Florence Elizabeth Chandler, a member of a well known and prosperous southern family, was married July 27, 1881, in St. James church, Piccadilly, to James Maybrick, of Liverpool. She was then 18 years old. Her husband was over forty years of age. In the spring of 1889 Mr. Maybrick became ill and in a few days he died. His brothers investigated his death and charged Mrs. Maybrick with the murder of her husband. A long trial followed, and a number of doctors swore that the deceased died of arsenical poisoning. The defense proved that for twenty years Mr. Maybrick had been a confirmed user of arsenic and that he daily took doses large enough to have killed a dozen ordinary men. Mrs. Maybrick was eventually sentenced to death by the judge, Sir Fitz-James Stephen, who spoke for two days in charging the jury. He said it was impossible to find her not guilty in the face of the medical evidence. The judge died some time later in a mad house.

Mother's Fight for Daughter.

From the time of Mrs. Maybrick's conviction her mother, the baroness de Roques, was unremitting in her efforts in behalf of the prisoner. She succeeded in having the death sentence commuted to penal servitude for life, and finally has obtained the freedom of her daughter, to whose release from prison she had devoted her life. The baroness was aided by influential friends on both sides of the Atlantic. In 1900, after the death of Lord Russell, of Killowen, chief justice of England, a letter which had been written to Mrs. Maybrick in 1895 was discovered. It showed he was convinced that she ought never to have been convicted, and it has been generally understood that all the recent American ambassadors to the court of St. James have done everything possible to obtain Mrs. Maybrick's pardon.

The fact of her probable release was used as a reason for securing the postponement of a trial last year of law suits bearing on Mrs. Maybrick's interest in land in Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia until she was able personally to testify. If she was not able to testify in these suits Mrs. Maybrick and her mother would have lost all title and interest in the many thousands of acres of land involved in the case.

On February 4 last, Home Secretary Akers-Douglas, replying to a question in the house of commons, confirmed the reports which had been in circulation that Mrs. Maybrick had been removed from Aylesbury prison to a convalescent home, where she would remain until the summer, when she would be allowed her freedom. The home secretary said a license had been granted to Mrs. Maybrick under the penal servitude act.

Unprecedented British Act.

The transfer of the prisoner from a penal prison to a quiet country home constituted an almost unprecedented action on the part of the British authorities. It was due to the mediation of the duchess of Bedford, who, as a visitor to Aylesbury prison for many years, had taken a keen personal interest in Mrs. Maybrick, and finally succeeded in obtaining the mitigation of her punishment to the extent of her being allowed to spend the last six months of her confinement outside the prison walls.

MRS. FLORENCE MAYBRICK.

BEEF CUTTERS STRIKE WILL BE CALLED OFF

Arbitration Agreement Reached at Conference With Packers Held Yesterday Afternoon.

EVERY STRIKER OUT WILL GET HIS OLD JOB

Within Specified Time All Men Who Quit Work Will Be Given Employment—Work in All Packing Houses Begins Again Today.

Chicago, July 20.—The strike of packing house employees begun nine days ago, and which has demoralized the packing industry throughout the country, was settled here tonight, at a conference between representatives of the packers, the officials of the Meat Cutters' Union and representatives of all the allied trades employed at the stock yards.

The whole controversy will be submitted to a board of arbitration, both sides agreeing to abide by whatever decision this board may reach. Pending the decision of the arbitration board, the men will be taken back to work as rapidly as possible by the packers, and it is agreed by the packers that all the employees are to be reinstated within forty-five days from the date work is resumed.

If any of the former employees are still unemployed at the expiration of that time such persons are to have the privilege of submitting their cases to the arbitration board for settlement.

Return to Work At Once.

The strikers will return to work as soon as they can be notified of the peaceable adjustment of the trouble, and it is expected that by Friday morning everything will be in normal shape at all the plants in the different cities where the employees were on strike.

Half an hour after the decision had been reached tonight to arbitrate, M. J. Donnelly, the strike leader, had secured communication by long distance telephone with the leaders of the strikers in outside cities and had notified them that a satisfactory settlement had been reached and directed the strikers to return to work as soon as possible.

The settlement of the difficulty by arbitration was brought about by the allied craft at the stock yards, who would have become involved in the controversy had it continued much longer.

Return Under Old Conditions.

The agreement reached at tonight's conference is practically the same as the proposition made last Saturday to the packers by Mr. Donnelly. The only difference is that in Saturday's communication Mr. Donnelly insisted that the strikers be all taken back to work within seven days. This the packers refused, although they agreed to accept every other demand made by Mr. Donnelly.

When the men return to work it will be under exactly the same conditions as prevailed before the strike was declared, with the exception that the question of a wage scale will be decided by arbitration.

As many of the old employees as can be reached tonight by the officials of the union will be notified to return to work tomorrow morning.

All the strikers who appear at the plants will be put to work as fast as possible and by tomorrow night it is believed that all the establishments will be running with full forces.

Chief John Lone Dog Dead.

Poplar, Mont., July 20.—News of the death and burial of Chief John Lone Dog, of the Mandin Sioux, has been received here. Lone Dog was a noted warrior, and his burial was the occasion for a great demonstration of grief on the part of the redskins. In accordance with his last wish, the chief was buried wrapped in an American flag, which was presented to him at the time he visited Washington as a member of a Sioux commission.

30,000 WILL GO ON STRIKE AT FALL RIVER

Cut in Wages by Cotton Mills Will Bring Gigantic Walkout of Employees.

BY OVERWHELMING VOTE UNIONS ORDERED STRIKE

Strike Will Become Effective Monday in All Union Mills at Fall River—Cut of 12 1-2 Per Cent Was Announced By Spinners.

Fall River, Mass., July 20.—Unless the cotton mill managers of this city, who operate what is known as union plants, abandon their announced intention of inaugurating on Monday next a new scale of wages which would reduce the earnings of their employees 12 1-2 per cent, 31,000 operatives will stop work following the strike vote cast tonight by the Textile Workers' Union.

By a vote of 1,500 to 396 the union men decided to strike Monday, disregarding the suggestion of the textile council that a strike was inadvisable at this time.

The question of striking was voted upon at meetings tonight by five separate unions of mill workers. Two of the organizations, the Carders' Union and the Spinners' Union, voted against a strike, but they are bound by a two-thirds vote of the Textile Workers' Union, of which they are members and will walk out with the weavers, the loom fixers and the slashers tenders.

It is the general belief in the city tonight that the mill owners will reconsider their decision to reduce wages and so avoid a strike.

This belief is based on the argument of the union leaders that the cotton and cloth markets are in such conditions that a shut down at this time would be ruinous to the manufacturers.

Cut in Wages Announced.

Manchester, N. H., July 20.—Notices have been posted in all three of the Suncook cotton mills announcing a cut of 12½ per cent in wages of all operatives, to take effect July 25. The cut is due to a surplus in manufactured products. About 1,500 operatives will be affected.

KILLED BY HIS FATHER IN LAW

Edward Stevens Shot By Magistrate Lyon At Greenwood, S. C.

Greenwood, S. C., July 20.—Edward Stevens, aged 25, residing in Greenwood county, S. C., was killed by his father in law, Magistrate Thomas J. Lyon, aged 55. Since the elopement a few years ago of Stevens and Lyon's eldest daughter and later a justice court decision against Steven's father, there has not been the best of feeling between the families. At a picnic yesterday there was a quarrel between the kinsmen. It was renewed later in the day in front of Stevens house. Stevens attacked Lyon with the butt end of a whip and Lyon shot him through the heart. Lyon surrendered and is in jail.

Boston Millionaire Disappear'

New York, July 20.—Henry Tudor, a Boston millionaire, is reported to have disappeared from his hotel here, and up to an early hour today no trace of his whereabouts has been found. Mr. Tudor is 53 years old. Three years ago his relatives had Attorney Charles Blakely appointed as his guardian.

FOLK MEN WIN IN FIRST TEST

Folk St. Louis Delegation Seated by Committee.

Jefferson City, Mo., July 20.—The credentials committee this afternoon voted 13 to 3 to seat the Folk delegates from St. Louis county.

Prolonged investigations by the committee on credentials caused a cessation in the deliberations of the democratic state convention today. After being in session nearly all night the convention reconvened after a recess of a few hours and took up the contests in St. Louis.

When the hour arrived for calling the convention to order there was a spare gathering of delegates in the hall. It was only after considerable delay that the convention was called to order and then announcement was made by Temporary Chairman Vandiver that the committee on credentials would be in session probably for the greater part of the day.

A motion to take a recess for several hours was voted down and while many delegates left the hall, still there was a fair per cent present when Attorney General Crow was escorted to the platform in response to requests for an address.

At the end of Crow's address the convention took a recess.

The report of the credentials committee was adopted late tonight and the organization of the convention completed by the selection of W. W. Graves as permanent chairman.

Horton Goes With O. S. S.

New York, July 20.—J. C. Horton, for many years connected with the Seaboard Air Line system, has been appointed general agent of the Ocean Steamship Company with headquarters in New York.

STILL HOPING TO GET GORMAN

Taggart's Friends Claim West Should Not Be Ignored.

New York, July 20.—There is a belief among the democratic politicians who yet linger about the Hoffman house, that Senator Gorman is still a possibility for chairman of the national committee.

No one seems to be authorized to speak for the Maryland senator and those who are in a position to know all that has taken place in recent conferences will not state his position. A sectional question has arisen in connection with the chairmanship and it is being pushed to some extent by the friends of Thomas Taggart.

Both candidates on the national ticket are from the east and it is said that to take the chairman of the committee from the same section will look like ignoring the west, a section in which electoral votes are sought.

Mr. Taggart arrived in the city today, but has not yet met any of the leaders. Senator Gorman left for Atlantic City and D. B. Hill returned to Albany.

It is not believed that Senator Gorman will allow his name to be used to defeat Taggart, but those who want Gorman hope that an understanding may be reached which will result in the selection of Gorman as the chairman and that Taggart will be placed in charge of the western headquarters.

Senator Davis and National Committeeman Mack returned to New York this evening. Senator Davis will spend the night here and tomorrow morning will go to Bedford Springs, Va., where he will meet National Committeeman J. M. Guffey, of Pennsylvania, and other prominent democrats.

COCA-COLA AND PERUNA MUST PAY A HEAVY TAX

GROVER PRAISES GOLD TELEGRAM

Former President Tells Democrats To Be Steady.

In Article in Collier's Cleveland Will Discuss Democratic Platform, Which Pleases Him Exceedingly, and Declares Democracy Should Be Congratulated.

New York, July 20.—"Steady, Democrats, Steady," is the title of an article by Grover Cleveland, which will be printed in Colliers for July 23. In it Mr. Cleveland lauds the action of Judge Parker in sending his "gold telegram" to the St. Louis convention, and expresses his satisfaction with the platform and the outlook in part as follows:

"No action of democracy's representatives assembled in the late convention can be construed in any other way than as an acknowledgment of the establishment of the gold standard, and a willing pledge to its maintenance.

"This condition should of itself be sufficient to so fill our measure of satisfaction as to cause us to forget any fears or trepidation that may have vexed us during the days just passed.

Ratified by People.

"I do not overlook the fact that two clear and unimpeached verdicts of the people stand recorded in favor of the gold standard, and that its perpetuity has been secured by federal enactment; but I insist that, in refusing to indulge in any further free silver or double standard vagaries, the convention did not, of account of existing conditions, make a virtue of necessity, but that it voiced instead an actual and wholesome change in sentiment among the file of democracy.

"Herein is found abundantly sufficient cause for gratitude and congratulation on the part of all those who love true democracy. I want to go further than this, and to express a reverent belief that certain convention utterances apparently untoward have worked together for democracy's good, and that a happy outcome has been reached through a leader, wiser and more certain than the wit of man could have devised.

Kind Word for Tillman.

"Senator Tillman and I have occasionally differed, but I hope he will take no offense if I applaud and give hearty concurrence to his expression of belief that 'providence has taken kindly hold on our affairs.'"

After quoting Judge Parker's message to the St. Louis convention, Mr. Cleveland says:

"Those democrats who have been impatient of the silence of their party's candidate ought to be satisfied with the effectiveness of his utterance. It filled the blank in a disabled platform; it gave leadership to the democratic cause and rallied supporters by thousands and tens of thousands to the democratic standard.

"I believe that no man ever did so much for the cause and in so many directions and in short a time and in so compact a form as was done by our candidate when he sent his message to the St. Louis convention. He has reminded all who profess democratic principles that they also have work to do if they, like him, would do the political duty the time demands."

SILVER SERVICE FOR DENVER.

Ceremony On Presentation to the Cruiser Yesterday.

Galveston, Tex., July 20.—The silver service from the citizens of Denver was formally presented to the cruiser Denver at the Auditorium this afternoon. Two thousand people witnessed the ceremony, which consisted of speech-making and music. Mayor Austin delivered the address of welcome, Lieutenant P. J. Werlich, of the Denver, responding. District Attorney Charles S. Brock, of Denver, delivered the presentation speech, and Commander Murdoch the address of acceptance.

Preceding the ceremony at the Auditorium a parade took place in which the naval officers, Denver delegation, local committee, and Daughters of the American Revolution participated.

INVESTIGATE ALABAMA FIRE.

Sheriff Ordered To Take Evidence About Montgomery Blaze.

Montgomery, Ala., July 20.—(Special.)—On instruction from E. R. McDavid, insurance commissioner of Alabama, the sheriff of Montgomery county has empaneled a jury to investigate the fire of Sunday morning, last, which destroyed the plant of the Alabama Rift Flooring Company, near the city. It will be remembered that the watchman saw a man running away after the blaze broke out. It is the opinion of Manager Palmer, however, that the fire was the result of accident, and not incendiarism. He can conceive of no reason why any one should burn him out, and says he has had no trouble recently with his labor.

The loss at this fire will not exceed $75,000 it is now ascertained. There will be considerable salvage, and much of the lumber was not hurt. Even some of that which was scorched will be of some value. The insurance amounted to $54,350.

Only Nine Less Pensioners

Topeka, Kans., July 20.—The rolls for the Topeka pension agency, the largest in the United States, show a decrease of only nine pensions for the year just ended. The list contains 115,620 pensioners, who drew $16,294,221 last year. During the year 4,232 pensioners died. Most of the veterans who die leave widows.

Manufacturers of Former Taxed $1,000; Dealers in Latter $200 Each.

DISPUTE OVER DISPENSARY BROUGHT OUT SHARP TALK

Buchanan of Early Makes Warm Reply to Steed of Carroll. Effort to Tax Foreign Corporations Again Comes Forward in the House.

The proceedings of the house were somewhat enlivened just after roll call yesterday morning by a little misunderstanding between Mr. Buchanan, of Early, and Mr. Steed, of Carroll, in which some pretty sharp words were used.

Mr. Buchanan secured a reconsideration of the bill to provide for the establishment of a dispensary in Arlington, which is on the line between Early and Calhoun counties. This bill was defeated several days ago.

Then Mr. Buchanan read an extract from a published statement of the proceedings of the house in which Mr. Steed, of Carroll, was quoted as saying any charge that he had misrepresented the facts in the Arlington dispensary case was false. Mr. Buchanan had stated that Mr. Steed had misrepresented the matter.

"I now wish to ask the gentleman from Carroll if he will retract that statement," said Mr. Buchanan, advancing toward Mr. Steed's seat.

"I have always endeavored to be uniformly courteous to every member of the house," Mr. Steel said. "I have acted in this matter fairly and justly, as I have in all others, and until the gentleman from Early retracts his charge of misrepresentation, I have nothing to retract."

It looked for a moment as if there might be more serious warfare, but the speaker secured order and Mr. Buchanan resumed his remarks.

Mr. Buchanan declared the charge was malignant, false and unwarranted.

"I have not been discourteous to Mr. Steed, of Carroll, nor to any other member of this house, Mr. Buchanan said. "He has pursued me and his conduct has been discourteous towards me. It shows a malignant and degraded heart and—".

Speaker Morris called the speaker to order and forbade any further indulgence in personalities.

Mr. Buchanan said he felt driven to the necessity of making the statement he did, and that he would be recreant to the trust given him if he did not resent an insult of this character.

Mr. Buchanan then went on to state that he had received several petitions urging the passage of the Arlington dispensary bill, and had received letters from many prominent citizens stating that they had withdrawn their objections to the measure. The point was made that the bill was not up for consideration, and Mr. Buchanan brought his remarks to a conclusion.

Coca-Cola and Peruna.

Consideration of the beer and Coca-Cola paragrapa, No. 23, of the general tax act was then taken up and the house, by the close vote of 65 to 64, adopted the amendment by Mr. Kelly, of Glascock, making the tax on the manufacturers of Coca-Cola, Celery Coca, Afri-Cola, Wine-Coca and similar beverages $1,000.

Mr. Hall, of Bibb, during the debate, read extracts from testimony given by State Chemist John M. McCandless and other chemists of national reputation to the effect that analyses of various samples of Coca-Cola obtained from different sources showed that Coca-Cola did not contain any alcohol or any cocaine whatever, and less caffein than an ordinary cup of tea or coffee, and that as a beverage it was less harmful than either coffee or tea.

Dr. Kelly, in urging the adoption of his amendment, said the legislature did not hesitate to tax the manufacturers of beer and similar beverages, and there was no reason why the manufacturer of a drink which he considered even worse than beer, and upon which the manufacturer had a virtual monopoly, should not be taxed as he proposed.

There was much interest in the vote, but it was so close that no one could even approximate the result until the vote had been counted.

An amendment by Mr. Mills, of Cherokee, providing that none of the drinks mentioned in paragraph 23 should be sold to a minor was defeated.

By the adoption of an amendment of Mr. Womble, of Upson, Coca-Nola was added to the list of drinks the manufacturers of which are taxed $1,000.

An amendment by Mr. Steed, of Taylor, to put a similar tax upon manufacturers of ales, ginger and otherwise was defeated.

Peruna Must Pay Tax.

All dealers in Peruna, essence or extract of ginger must pay a tax of $200 to the state, unless the senate succeeds in knocking out the amendment to paragraph 23, proposed by Mr. Gross, of McDuffie, and adopted by the house by a vote of 73 to 57.

Mr. Gross' amendment as adopted by the house is as follows:

"Upon every dealer in Peruna, dilute tincture, extract or essence of ginger or any other medicinal preparation which can be used as a beverage which contains an amount of alcohol equal to or in excess of the amount recognized by the United Pharmacopoeia necessary for a good wine for medicinal purposes, the sum of $200."

This amendment caused a warm contest, but the only chance for debate, as the previous question had been called, was in the explanation of votes.

Mr. Cann, of Chatham, and others opposed the amendment, as they said it would operate against numerous other patent medicines and put a tax upon their sale. He said he had received a petition from the druggists of Savannah urging him to oppose this measure. Many of these were standard medicines, he said, and it was unjust to put such an embargo on their sale.

"I am aiming particularly at Peruna," said Mr. Gross, in explaining his vote.

"This stuff is the curse of the people of the dry counties in this state, and people have died from the effects of it. It is simply a mean substitute for whisky. No reputable physician will recommend it, and no reputable physician in this house will vote against this amendment. This stuff is destroying the reason of those who drink it and is breaking up happy homes in many of the counties of this state."

Mr. Mills, of Cherokee, made a strong speech in favor of the amendment along the line of Mr. Gross and concluded with, "I vote no." This caused a considerable laugh, but Mr. Mills soon got his vote straightened out in favor of the amendment.

The announcement of the result declaring the amendment adopted was greeted with applause.

What Paragraph 23 Does.

Paragraph 23 was then adopted as amended, and in that shape it taxes every brewery or manufacturer of beer $300 on each plant; every person who sells beer and does not pay the liquor dealer's license, $200; every manufacturer of coca-cola and similar drinks, $1,000; every dealer in Peruna, essence or extract of ginger, $200.

Several of the succeeding paragraphs were adopted without debate.

Paragraph 24 as adopted taxes pawnbrokers $100, with an additional $25 if he sells pistols; paragraph 25 taxes mercantile and collecting agencies $50 in each county where they have an office; paragraph 26 taxes slot machines furnishing merchandise except where connected with stores $250 each, and all such slot machines showing pictures or giving music $5 each, the total amount paid by one person in any county being limited to $50; paragraph 27 taxes detective agencies $100 for each office; paragraph 28 taxes all dealers in cigarettes and cigarette papers $10 each; paragraph 29 taxes owners or lessees of baseball and football parks or racing tracks $50 each, this tax being reduced to $25 in places of less than 10,000 inhabitants, and to $5 in towns of less than 3,000; paragraph 30 taxes each ticket broker or scalper $50; paragraph 31 taxes persons engaged in the business of making abstracts of title $50 in cities of over 20,000, $25 in cities of 10,000 to 20,000, and $10 in places of less than 10,000; paragraph 32 taxes all traveling gypsies and other persons engaged in fortune telling $25 in each county where they do business; paragraph 33 taxes real estate dealers $10 each; paragraph 34 taxes midway combinations or street fairs $10 a week for each separate tent where admission fee is charged; paragraph 35 provides where population is considered in levying taxes the last United States census shall govern.

The foregoing paragraphs were adopted without material change, and section 2 was then adopted as amended.

Sections 3 and 4 of the act which are simply administrative were adopted.

Other Sections Adopted.

Section 5 was adopted taxing insurance companies the same as at present, one per cent on all premiums, besides the license fees and tax on agents.

Section 6 provides for the returns of building and loan association property; section 7 provides for returns of surety and guarantee companies, and section 8 provides for the return of corporation property not now returned to the comptroller general. These sections were all adopted.

Section 9 as adopted provides for the return of all railroad, express, telephone and telegraph property to the comptroller general as is done at present.

No change was made in section 10, which puts a tax of $200 on every sewing machine company selling their product in Georgia, and a tax of $10 upon every sewing machine agent for each county in which he may do business. Messrs. Hall, of Bibb, and Steed, of Taylor, sought to have stricken out the $10 tax on sewing machine agents on the ground that it was a tax on labor. Messrs. Bush, of Miller, and Gross, of McDuffie, warmly opposed this amendment on the ground that these agents deceive the people and sell them sewing machines for two or three times what they are worth. The amendment was lost by a vote of 76 to 22 and the $10 tax will stand.

Section 11 taxing dealers in bicycles and automobiles was passed just as it stood last year.

Section 12 providing for the method of taxing banks, section 13 providing for the return of corporation gross and net income to the comptroller general and section 14 on the same subject, were all adopted as they stood last year.

Foreign Corporations.

At this point Mr. Hall, of Bibb, introduced his amendment adding a new section to the bill to be known as section 15, providing for an occupation tax upon all foreign corporations which do business in Georgia through agents.

This is similar to the section which was last year passed by the house, but defeated by the senate, but it proposes a different method of taxing such corporations, the tax being smaller than that fixed in the amendment of two years ago.

Mr. Slaton arose to oppose the amendment, when Mr. Grice, of Pulaski, on account of its importance, moved that it be printed for the information of the members and taken up for consideration this morning. This motion was carried and the discussion was deferred until today.

To Get at Notes.

Mr. Underwood, of White, offered an amendment providing for the submission to tax receivers of lists of notes, accounts and other evidences of debt, such lists to be stamped "returned for taxation," and without such indorsement such notes, accounts and other evidences of debt would be barred out of the courts.

Mr. Franklin, of Washington, wanted the amendment printed for the information of the house.

Mr. Tigner, of Muscogee, opposed defering action. Mr. Mitchell called the previous question.

Considerable confusion arose and Mr. Mitchell withdrew his call. The house then voted to print the Underwood amendment and consideration of it was postponed until today.

The general tax act was then withdrawn from consideration for the day and other matters were taken up.

Speaker Morris appointed Messrs. Boykin, of Lincoln; Martin, of Elbert, and Harden, of Chatham, on the joint committee to revise the game and fish laws.

IMPORTANT BILLS PASSED.

Senates Acts Favorably On Golden Bucket Shop Measure and McLean Bill.

Two important bills were passed by the senate yesterday, one being the Golden bucket shop bill and the other the McLean bill changing the term of office of county officials from two to four years. The former elicited an animated debate, but the latter was passed without discussion.

A number of other measures of lesser importance were also passed and quite a batch of new matter introduced.

The senate was called to order at 11 o'clock by President Howell and when the session was about half over the "bucket shop" bill was taken up, the agricultural committee recommending the passage of a substitute. Mr. Atkinson, of the twenty-sixth, was the first speaker, saying:

"I can't see how the senate can give serious consideration to as trivial a matter as this."

Some one called "louder," and Mr. Atkinson set the senate to laughing by replying that he was "deaf himself, but could hear plainly what he was saying."

"Gentlemen," he continued, "there never has been and never will be a contract in cotton futures made without it's being a trade and a purchase. The buyer purchases so many bushels of wheat or pounds of cotton, which is sold to him. There is no moral difference whether he buys it for future delivery or gets the stuff and puts it in his private ware house to be sold later. His object in either case was to make money, to speculate.

"It is this system of marketing products that keeps prices uniform the country over and keeps various communities in touch with one another. Assail it and you have assailed the interests of every farmer in the land, besides assailing that of every user of farm products."

Mr. Matthews, of the twenty-third, followed Mr. Atkinson and he in turn was followed by Mr. Perry, of the thirty-third, and Mr. Golden, the author of the bill. All three of these speakers attacked the buying of futures on the ground of its being gambling and of such proportion that it was a widespread public evil and danger.

A motion was made to postpone the consideration of the bill indefinitely, but this motion was lost and the vote taken was 25 to 11.

The other bills passed were, besides the two named:

By Mr. Middlebrooks, of the twenty-seventh—To amend section 1775 of the code of Georgia of 1895, amended by an act approved December 15, 1900, so as to authorize the owner or claimant of such animal or animals in case of any litigation or disagreement between the parties as to dameges or charges for taking up or impounding said animals, to redeem or replevy same by giving to the complaining party bond with good and sufficient security, conditioned to pay all damages and costs which may be recovered in case any suit should be instituted.

By Mr. Merritt, of the twentieth——To change the time of holding the superior court of Hancock county and for other purposes.

By Mr. Harrell, of the eighth—To establish a dispensary in Thomas county.

By Mr. Jordan, of the twenty-eighth—To change the salary of the clerk of the commissioner of agriculture from $1,200 to $1,600.

By Mr. Harrell, of the eighth—To confer upon the senior colonel of the line of the Georgia state troops the rank and title of brevet brigadier general.

By Mr. Jordan, of the twenty-eighth—To fix and regulate the weight of corn meal in this state and for other purposes.

By Mr. Starr, of the forty-third—To prohibit the importation of seed from cotton, cotton seed hulls, cotton seed meal, hay or any other product affected with the Texas boll weevil into this state and for other purposes.

By Mr. Park, of the thirty-seventh—To authorize cities and towns to manufacture, distribute, use and sell gas and electricity for lighting purposes and to construct, purchase, lease, establish, maintain one or more plants for the manufacture, distribution, use or sale of gas or electricity for lighting purposes either public or private.

By Mr. Harrell, of the eighth—To amend the general military law so as to provide that the two assistants to the adjutant general shall have the ranks of colonel and lieutenant colonel, respectively, instead of lieutenant colonel and major, respectively, as provided in said act.

The following new bills were introduced:

By Mr. Howell, of the thirty-fifth—To protect manufacturers and all classes of bottlers from loss of bottles and boxes.

By Mr. Perry, of the thirty-third—To make it unlawful to bet upon any election, state or national, in this state.

By Mr. Perry, of the thirty-third—To provide for fast writs of error to interlocutory orders directing or confirming sales of property within the control of a court of equity and to orders revoking, modifying or altering the original order granting an injunction or appointing a receiver and for other purposes.

By Mr. Duncan, of the thirty-sixth—To prescribe time in which notes, checks, drafts and other commercial papers subject to protest may be protested and for other purposes.

By Mr. Matthews, of the twenty-third—To amend an act requiring the commissioner of agriculture to establish a special department of horticulture and pomology.

By Mr. Park, of the thirty-seventh—To amend section 3 of an act entitled an act to amend an act approved December 31, 1897, being an act to create a prison commission for the state of Georgia.

By Mr. Reed, of the nineteenth—To authorize and allow the offices of ordinary and judge of the county court of Taliaferro county to be held by one and the same person.

LAWYERS TALK OF HALL BILL.

Counsel For Southern Says Law Would Prove Inoperative.

Some interesting developments regarding the Hall bill to compel all railroads operating in Georgia to incorporate have arisen since the measure was taken up by the senate committee on railroads.

This bill was introduced by Mr. Hall, of Bibb, and was engrossed and not referred to any committee. The house passed it and there was not the slightest sign of opposition made by the railroads. The object of the bill was to do away with the right of a railroad, chartered by another state to have litigation against it transferred from Georgia courts to the federal courts and to bring the railroads more closely under Georgia supervision.

At a meeting of the senate railroad committee yesterday morning the bill was up for consideration and Judge Hamilton McWhorter, advisory counsel for the Southern railroad, and R. C. Alston, representing the Plant system, were before the committee to speak on the bill.

To the surprise of many members of the committee, Judge McWhorter stated that the Southern railroad did not care one whit whether the bill passed or not, because under decisions of the United States supreme court it would be entirely inoperative against vested rights.

It was also stated to the committee that it would effect a large number of narrow gauge lumber roads throughout the state and it is expected that representatives of the latter named interests will make a fight on the bill.

Judge McWhorter and Mr. Alston both spoke at some length the tenor of their remarks being about the same. Judge McWhorter said:

"The Southern Railway Company is a resident of Virginia—it is chartered there and that is the state of its domicile.

"Against the removal clause of the federal constitution this legislature has no more power to change the domicile of the Southern Railway Company than it has to change the domicile of General Fitzhugh Lee, who is also a resident of the state of Virginia; nor has it any more moral or legal right, without a hearing, to confiscate the property because it does business in Georgia, as now provided by law, without changing its residence than it would have to take the life of General Fitzhugh Lee, without a hearing, if he should come into Georgia and do business without changing his residence.

"The passage of such a bill would not only be repugnant to the constitution and in the face of the uniform decisions of the supreme court, but it would contravene the principles of common justice and prostitute this body to unjust and unworthy purposes.

"While the Southern Railway Company is a resident of Virginia, yet in the prosecution of its business in Georgia it is subject to every burden, of taxation or otherwise, imposed by this body upon all other railroads and is amenable to all the rules and regulations of our railroad commission, and shares equally all the liabilities imposed by law upon the other roads in this state.

"The Atlantic Coast Line and the Seaboard Air Line were organized under the laws of Virginia; the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway, which is the lessee of your state road, is a Tennessee corporation; the Louisville and Nashville, joint lessee of the Georgia railroad, is a Kentucky corporation, yet this bill would confiscate the property of each without a hearing if it could do so.

"Speaking for the Southern Railway Company, I desire to say, without intending to indorse the unwise, radical and revolutionary legislation suggested by this bill, that we are utterly indifferent to its passage.

"If you can stand for it we can stand from under it, and in that event its baleful operation may be left to sacrifice other important developing enterprises and interests in the state not now contemplated.

"Since the decision of the supreme court of the United States in the North Carolina case, to which the Southern railway was a party, handed down since the introduction of this bill, which unequivocally announced the law that no state legislature has the power to prevent the removal, by a non-resident, of a case from state to the federal courts, we have had no concern about the passage or defeat of this bill, and I repeat its passage or defeat is now a matter of absolute and utter indifference to the Southern Railway Company.

"This is said in no spirit of disregard of your acts, but is merely the assertion of a simple legal conclusion that must be as plain to you as it is to me, and about which, therefore, there can be no substantial difference.

"Representing the Southern Railway Company, therefore, I do not care to say more upon this occasion, and without further discussion, I purpose to leave this bill to the wise, just and conservative consideration and direction which you may see fit to give it."

TO REPRESENT NEW COUNTIES

Bill Passes Providing for Eight More Members of the House.

When the house laid aside the general tax act yesterday just before the close of the session, the bill providing for an amendment to the constitution so as to increase the limit of the number of members of the house of representatives from 175 to 183, was taken up and passed by a vote of 127 to 1.

This bill provides for an amendment to paragraph 1, section 3, article 3 of the constitution, so that the house of representatives shall not consist of more than 183 members, the six largest counties to have three representatives each, the twenty-six next largest counties two each, and the remaining counties one each. The eight additional representatives are to provide representation for the proposed eight new counties under the constitutional amendment recently passed to increase the number of counties.

The original bill was by Mr. Cromartie, of Appling; Mr Singletary, of Thomas, and Mr. Shannon, of Monroe. It provided that the six counties to have three representatives should be Fulton, Chatham, Bibb, Richmond, Floyd and Burke. Thomas county, instead of Burke, is entitled to three representatives, and provsion was made for that change in the bill which was passed. The house instead of passing the original bill, passed a substitute which is the same as the bill now pending in the senate. The house bill will be immediately transmitted to the senate.

Following this consideration was begun of the resolution by Mr. Dunbar, of Richmond, to provide for the appointment of a commissioner of one from each congressional district to take under consideration and report on the matter of the establishment of eight new counties. The bill provides for an appropriation of $1,000 to pay the expenses of such a commission. The time for adjournment arrived before action could be taken on this resolution.

VATICAN HEARS DEFY OF FRENCH

Ultimatum Sent in Case of Censured Bishops

French Government Demands Withdrawal of Letters Requesting Resignation of Bishops—Believed Vatican Will Refuse and Break Will Follow.

Paris, July 20.—The text of Foreign Minister DelCasse's note addressed to the vatican was communicated to the council of ministers today. It creates a decisive issue, asking for the withdrawal of the letters by which the vatican called for the resignations of Bishops Geay, of Laval, and Nordez, of Dijon. Otherwise all relations between France and the vatican will be broken off.

The contents of M. Delcasse's note are semi-officially stated to be as follows:

"The French government asks for the withdrawal pure and simple of the letters the vatican addressed to the bishops of Laval and Dijon which are considered to be a breach of the concordat, as France had not previously been consulted relative to the dismissal of the bishops. In default of compliance the holy see is advised that the pontifical nuncio at Paris will receive his passports and that relations will be severed."

The Journal des Bats characterizes the note as an ultimatum and says that unless entire satisfaction is given a complete rupture will follow immediately, the personnel of the French embassy to the vatican being withdrawn simultaneously with the delivery of the passports to the nuncio.

A similar notification was communicated to the papal nuncio here. The vatican's answer has not yet been received. It is expected that the question will be maturely considered before an answer is given. Therefore, the council does not anticipate a determination of the issue before August. The officials incline to the belief that a rupture is inevitable as unofficial advices from Rome indicate that the vatican does not intend to comply with the request to withdraw the letters calling for the resignation of the bishops.

BREEZE EMBEZZLEMENT CASE.

Sensation During the Trial At Asheville Yesterday.

Charleston, N. C., July 20.—Today's proceedings in the trial of William E. Breeze for embezzlement were the most interesting since the trial began over a week ago, the district attorney resting the case for the government and the defendant, who is accused of taking $114,000 of the funds of the First national bank of Asheville, of which he was president, going on the stand in his own behalf.

The sensation of the day occurred when evidence was introduced connecting the name of J. S. Adams, one of the attorneys for the defense, with the transactions of the bank just prior to its failure. It was shown that a note signed by him had been taken up and replaced by an insolvent note. The insolvent note was discounted and the proceeds placed to the credit of Adams.

The defense placed Adams on the stand and a satisfactory explanation was made of the entire transaction.

The cases against Penland and Dickerson, other officers of the defunct bank who are accused of taking about $175,000, have been continued to October, owing to the fact that Judge Keller is called to West Virginia on business.

The claim was paid at once. The policy was issued last November, and over half of the amount was reinsured in other companies.

Steel Web Picket Fence.

Especially for Lawns, Door-Yards, Cemeteries or Parks.

SIX CABLES, 37 inches, standard height. The pickets are made of three No. 12 galvanized steel wires, uniformly spaced 2½ inches apart, and held firmly in place by cables 6½ inches apart, each made of two No. 12 steel galvanized wires, making a very handsome combination.

In this combination we acquire considerable economy, produce a better fence, and overcome all serious objections to pickets made of a single wire, which are known to easily bend and break, and which of necessity must be heavy, requiring more power to crimp it, crystallizing the metal at these points, making them hard and brittle and easily broken, besides destroying the galvanizing.

IN STEEL WEB PICKETS we get a very strong picket by weaving a number of smaller wires together in which only one-third of the weight of the picket passes through the crimping machine, enabling us to use a much smaller wire for this part of the picket and requires but little to form it, therefore neither affecting the elasticity of the wire nor the galvanizing, but leaving the entire picket strong, tough and elastic.

It stands in the lead for door-yard, lawn, cemetery or park purposes, whether in the city or in the country. Made of the best GALVANIZED STEEL, yet CHEAPER THAN WOOD.

You will please bear in mind, when we say pickets 2½ inches apart, that the measurement is made between the points of the corrugation of the two adjacent pickets, and not from the center of one picket to the center of the next.

RUSSIAN SHIPS ON RAID ON JAPANESE EAST COAST

Vladivostok Squadron Sails Into Pacific and Creates Great Consternation.

AMERICAN STEAMERS MAY BE CAPTURED

Believed Russians Intend To Intercept Ships Carrying Supplies Of All Kinds From America To Japanese Ports—Japanese Ship Sunk.

London, July 21.—The Standard's correspondent with the first Japanese army, cabling under date of July 19, says:

"Our right flank has been engaged since morning."

The correspondent of The Times with General Kuroki's army under date of July 19, confirms The Standard correspondent's report.

Ta Tche, Kiao, July 19.—(Delayed in transmission.)—Sharp fighting was reported yesterday to the northeast, where it is stated the Japanese lost ten guns. Their forces were pushed back and their positions occupied as far as Saimatsze.

If this report be true it indicates a heavy engagement.

Tokio, July 20.—The Russian Vladivostok squadron, accompanied by torpedo boats, entered the Pacific ocean at 7 o'clock. Its destination is unknown, but it is suggested that it plans to raid the east coast of Japan, and then either return to Vladivostok, escaping to the southward, or attempting to form a junction with the Port Arthur fleet.

The squadron was discovered in the straits of Tsugar at 3 o'clock this morning moving rapidly eastward. At 3:30 a. m. it was reported off Tappi cape, and at 7 a. m. observers at Hakodate discerned it and reported to Tokio that it was then steaming to the east.

ON AMERICAN STEAMERS RUSSIANS MAY MOVE.

Paris, July 20.—The Temps, discussing the passage of the Vladivostok squadron through the straits of Tsugar, says its purpose is either to attack the unprotected cities on the east coast of Japan or to intercept American merchant steamers which are supplying Japan with all sorts of provision through the port of Yokahoma.

TROUBLE ENOUGH SAYS NICHOLAS

Czar Greatly Displeased by Red Sea Affair.

Tells Lamsdorff He Wants No Complication With Great Britain At This Stage of Game—His Attitude May Quickly Clear Situation.

St. Petersburg, July 21, 1:42 a. m.—The Associated Press has just been informed that Emperor Nicholas, in an interview with Count Lamsdorff, the foreign minister, expressed his displeasure at the turn events had taken, and at the possibility of complications with Great Britain arising out of the detention of British ships by the Russian volunteer steamers in the Red sea.

This pacific attitude, if the report be correct, will, doubtless, lead to an immediate and amicable adjustment of the difficulties.

Gravest Results May Follow Capture of Malacca by Volunteer Ships.

COURSE PURSUED BY RUSSIA DECLARED INSULT TO FLAG.

Most Conservative Papers Call For Strong Action Unless Russia Promptly Disowns Conduct of Her Ships Cruising in Red Sea.

London, July 20.—The Associated Press tonight interviewed many prominent persons connected and in close touch with the government relative to the seizure of British vessels by steamers of the Russian volunteer fleet in the Red sea.

As a result of these inquiries there is shown to be a remarkably hostile feeling against Russia of a strength and bitterness almost without precedent since the Crimean war.

Even the most conservative who have been in the service of the government for many years and who openly deplored the haste with which they thought Great Britain had plunged into the Transvaal war, tonight frankly declared for a policy of reprisal against what is regarded here as Russia's violation of treaties and her piratical attack on British commerce.

ALL CLASSES INDIGNANT AT RUSSIA'S ACTION.

The warlike tone of such papers as The Times, The Standard, The Morning Post and The Daily Telegraph which in national crises hitherto almost invariably advised caution, has had its inevitable effect. There has been stirred up a storm of indignation among all classes in the United Kingdom and the strength of which the government itself can scarcely gauge.

Those who deplored the outbreak of the war between Japan and Russia and insisted publicly and privately that Great Britain, crippled financially after her south African experiences, must not at all costs be drawn into the Far Eastern struggle, are now amongst the most outspoken champions of a physical force that will prevent the repetition of the Malacca incident in the Red sea.

"Lord Lansdowne," says The Daily Telegraph, voicing the views of the government, "has faced the situation created by the abuse of the right of search in the only manner worthy of a British minister, compelled to defend the interests of British commerce and the honor of the flag, and, acting with unhesitating firmness and promptitude which recall the strongest days of the national policy, he has justified the trust of the country.

RUSSIA MUST WITDRAW FROM POSITION ASSUMED.

"While not one rash word should be said which could have the effect of increasing the tension of an anxious and dangerous interval, it would be futile to disguise the character or to minimize the risks of the situation which has arisen. We hope and believe that a solution of the difficulty may still be found in the withdrawal of the Russian government from its false position."

The Telegraph goes on to say that the stores of the Malacca were plainly marked with the broad arrow, showing that they belonged to the British government and were destined only for a British depot.

"It would be impossible to conceive a more remarkable accumulation of illegality and error than has attended the present case," the paper says, "if this country were capable under any circumstances of tamely enduring so grave an injury to the most vital of its interests and so great an insult to its honor we should have forfeited our claim to be a great nation. In any circumstances we think it may be assumed that the Malacca will never be navigated by a prize crew to any Russian port. She is watched, if not actually stopped, by British warships and she will, in any case be restored to her owners long before she can be taken through the Dardanellas or navigated to Libau.

MOST CRITICAL TIME IN PAST TWENTY YEARS.

"This emergency in some respects is the most critical that has marked our relations with Russia in the last twenty years, and in face of the inflamed state of public opinion in St. Petersburg it would be unwise to blind ourselves to the existence of possibilities that would otherwise be unthinkable. This country has adopted with decision and composure an attitude from which there can be no retreat or flinching. We seek a simple redress for a violent and unprovoked injury and where the peace of the west depends upon the will of the czar we cannot believe that civilization will look to him during the next forty-eight hours in vain."

The foregoing pronouncement from an organ so notoriously inspired with its open reference to a possibility of war, adds enormously to a situation that already was grave enough.

Every other London morning paper devotes its leading editorial to a similar view of the situation. War with Russia is openly contemplated by the most staid papers of the empire as a contingency much to be regretted, but nevertheless inevitable for the honor of the nation unless speedy reparation be made for what is alleged to be a dire insult to the British flag.

BRITISH FILE PROTEST ON CAPTURE OF SHIPS.

St. Petersburg, July 20.—Sir Charles Hardinge, the British ambassador to Russia, this afternoon in behalf of his government, presented a strong protest to Russia against the seizure on the Red sea and detention of the Peninsular and Oriental steamer Malacca, which was carrying 300 tons of British government stores for the naval establishment at Hong Kong, each case of which was marked with the broad arrow, which is the government stamp.

The ambassador also presented a general petition against the action of the Russian volunteer fleet in the Red sea.

The protest was in the form of a verbal note made in conformity with telegraphic instructions from the British government. It does not raise the question of the passage of the Dardanelles by vessels of the volunteer fleet, it being understood that Great Britain is reluctant to reopen the question of the Dardanelles and that she will not do so unless as a last resort.

Russia has reason to believe and contends that the Malacca, in addition to British government stores, had on board munitions intended for Japan.

TWO MEN ARE ROBBED.

Were Held Up Near Baker and Williams Streets at 10 O'clock Last Night.

Elias Collier, a negro, is being held at police barracks on a charge of having held up and robbed two white men in the neighborhood of Baker and Williams streets at 10 o'clock last night.

The police were notified by telephone shortly after 10 o'clock that an unknown negro had held up two young men. One of them gave his name as Lewis, and said he was employed by the Morrow Transfer Company.

The officers on their beats were given a description of the negro who held up the men and a short time later Bicycle Officers Hulsey and Barefield arrested Collier.

HE SHOT SIX TIMES AT HIM.

Street Car Conductor Fires On Unknown Man Who Turned the Blinds.

H. A. Hoffman, a street car conductor, residing at 313 Martin street, shot six times at an unknown young white man at 10 o'clock last night at the home of John W. Lucy, 17 Lee street, West End, where Hoffman was visiting a young lady.

Who the man was that the shots were fired at is not known. He was in the front yard of the Luck home at the time, and when asked for an explanation as to his presence, he refused to give one. Hoffman then shot at him.

Tuesday night, while Hoffman was visiting at the same place, an unknown man walked up and turned the blinds. Hoffman asked what he wanted and was told it was none of his business, and that if he interfered he would be killed. When Hoffman went to the Luck home last night he was prepared and took six shots at the intruder.

Bicycle Officers Coker and Blackstone heard the shots and hurried to investigate, but the man who had been shot at disappeared before their arrival.

A Beautiful Young Society Woman's Letter.

St. Paul, Minn.

Dr. Hartman, Columbus, O.,
Dear Sir:

"I took Peruna last summer when I was all run down and had a headache and backache, and no ambition for anything. I now feel as well as I ever did in all my life, and all thanks is due to your excellent Peruna."—BESS F. HEALY.

The symptoms of summer catarrh are quite unlike in different cases, but the most common ones are general lassitude, played-out, tired-out, used-up, run-down feelings, combined with more or less heavy, stupid, listless, mental condition. Relish for food and the ability to digest food seems to be lost.

Skin eruptions, sallow complexion, biliousness, coated tongue, fitful, irregular sleep, help to complete the picture which is so common at this season.

Peruna so exactly meets all these conditions that the demand is so great for this remedy at this season of the year that it is nearly impossible to supply it.

Pe-ru-na Contains No Narcotics.

One reason why Peruna has found permanent use in so many homes is that it contains no narcotics of any kind. Peruna is perfectly harmless. It can be used any length of time without acquiring the drug habit.

Thousands of women suffer from pelvic catarrh and catarrhal nervousness and don't know it. If you feel fagged out, begin at once taking Dr. Hartman's Peruna. It will relieve your catarrhal affliction and all your organs will be restored to health. Buy a bottle to-day, as it will immediately alleviate your case.

SENATOR DAVIS VISITS PARKER

Vice Presidential Nominee Guest at Rousemount.

Believed After Gorman Tom Taggart Is Choice for National Committee Chairman, But Judge Parker Consistently Refuses to Discuss the Matter.

Esopus, N. Y., July 20.—Senator Davis, the democratic vice presidential candidate, arrived at Esopus today accompanied by National Committeeman Norman E. Mack, of New York, and D. J. Campau, of Michigan. They were driven at once to Rosemount. Judge Parker and Senator Davis had never met before. Mr. Mack introduced the candidates and they warmly greeted each other.

The party then divided up into little groups and Judge Parker and Senator Davis withdrew to the south end of the veranda, where they conversed for a time.

Senator Davis declined to be interviewed at all, but submitted affably to the phalanx of photographers who ambushed him at the station.

Gorman Still Possibility.

Messrs. Mack and Campau, speaking of the national committee chairmanship, said they still regarded Senator Gorman as a possibility.

After luncheon Judge Parker and Senator Davis first went patiently through the process of being photographed in various poses, and then entered upon a conference, which lasted more than three hours. No one but Judge Parker and Senator Davis knew what they talked about. Their conversation was very earnest and punctuated by the senator's vigorous gestures and now and then by the judge's hearty laughter.

The only positive result of the meeting made known for publication is that there will be no joint notification. Judge Parker himself said:

"The notification of Senator Davis and myself will take place in our respective states. This is all we will say at this time."

Later he declared positively that his own notification would take place at Rosemount. It is likely that Senator Davis will be notified at White Sulphur Springs, that place being more conveniently situated than Elkins, the candidate's home town.

Tammany Support Sure.

National Committeeman Mack, while here today, talked freely of the situation with reference to Mr. Murphy and Tammany hall, and their attitude toward the campaign and the national ticket. He scoffed at the idea that there was any sinister significance in the failure of Mr. Murphy to send congratulations or other messages to Judge Parker or in the absence up to date of any special overtures from Judge Parker to Mr. Murphy.

"Mr. Murphy will be found loyally supporting the ticket," he said. "Tammany is one of the organizations that can be relied upon to get out its vote. As for Mr. McCarren, I do not deny that there is a rivalry between him and Mr. Murphy, but they are both good democrats, and there is no reason why their feelings toward each other should interfere with the success of the ticket."

Asked about the national chairmanship, Mr. Mack repeated his hope that Senator Gorman would be induced to take it. Some one asked if it was not the plan that Senator Gorman should be chairman with Taggaret in charge in the west and Sheehan in the east.

"That would be an admirable arrangement," said Mr. Mack.

CARRIES PISTOL IN BELT.

Syrian Appears at Police Headquarters Fully Armed.

Macon, Ga., July 20.—(Special.)—With the handle of a huge six-shooter sticking out of her dress, Amelia Galeel, the Syrian woman who recently led a negro she claimed had robbed her into East Macon from the country with a rope around his neck and his hands tied behind him, appeared at police headquarters this morning and surprised the officials by asking permission to go about the streets armed.

At headquarters this morning she declared she was afraid to walk the streets without having a gun handy, and asked if it was unlawful to carry a pistol only partially concealed. While the officials were opposed to the idea of a woman walking the streets armed with a huge six-shooter, at the same time they were powerless to prevent her unless she concealed the weapon. After exhibiting the gun to the officials she departed, but a consultation was held later and she will be requested to leave her gun at home and not cause visitors to the city to think they are in the wild and wolly west.

Bears in Ocmulgee Swamps.

Macon, Ga., July 20.—(Special.)—No little concern was caused among the farmers living near the swamps of the Ocmulgee by the report this morning of County Surveyor Anderson, who has just returned from a surveying trip into the depths of the swamp, that many bears were still to be found in the virgin forest and they are now wondering if they have not found an explanation for the appearance of strange tracks lately and the disappearance of quantities of green corn.

Interest To Be Paid.

Macon, Ga., July 20.—(Special.)—An order was received in the office of the United States court clerk this afternoon from Judge Speer, at Mount Airy, allowing Receiver Corbin, of the Plant estate, to pay the interest on a $9,000 mortgage. The mortgage was given on the beautiful College street home of the dead banker and is held by Mrs. Henrietta Nusbaum.

Wounds Proved Fatal.

Macon, Ga., July 20.—(Special.)—C. Raford Plunkett, the contractor who was accidentally shot a few nights ago at his home, died this morning in the city hospital. He is survived by a wife, one child and three brothers. Mr. Plunkett was a member of the Benevolent lodge, Knights of Pythias, and the members of that organization will attend the funeral in a body. The services will be held from his late residence, 859 Elm street, tomorrow afternoon, the Rev. W. N. Ainsworth officiating. The interment will be in Rose Hill cemetery.

THE STAND PATTERS CONTROL.

Iowa Idea Smothered Completely in the Entire State.

Des Moines, Iowa, July 20.—A large audience greeted Congressman W. P. Hepburn, temporary chairman of the republican state convention, when he arose to address the meeting today. There was no effort on the part of Governor Cummins and his friends to control a single caucus.

Congressman Hepburn outlined the policy of the convention in the matter of resolutions by reiterating "stand pat" phrases adopted at other republican conventions since the national platform was framed and adopted at Chicago.

His speech created considerable enthusiasm especially when he referred to Theodore Roosevelt as the "gallant leader of the republican party who was to lead his followers to victory."

N. S. Ketchum, candidate for railroad commissioner, the only office over which there was a contest, was nominated on the second ballot. W. B. Martin, for secretary of state; Gilbert S. Gilbertson, treasurer; B. F. Carroll, auditor; W. B. Molank, attorney general, and Horace E. Deemer, judge of the supreme court, were nominated by acclamation.

After adopting a platform along the line of the platform of the Chicago convention and indorsing the administration of Governor Cummins, the convention adjourned.

MEET NEXT AT FITZGERALD

Georgia Retail Grocers Association Finish Business and Adjourn.

Savannah, Ga., July 20.—(Special.)—Before adjourning this afternoon the Georgia Retail Grocers' Association selected Fitzgerald for the next annual meeting, which will be held on the second Tuesday and Wednesday in July, 1905. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, L. W. Roberts, Savannah; vice president, D. G. W. Harper, Brunswick; secretary, John Bratton, Atlanta; treasurer, F. H. Marshall, Savannah.

A proposition that the state association join with the other southern states in the organization of a Southern Retail Grocers' Association was unanimously voted down.

At the morning session there was a general discussion on the garnishment law and the need of such a provision for the protection of the grocers. An address was made by George J. Williams, organizer of the south.

An address was made by John Braton, editor of The Southern Merchant, the official organ of the association.

The report of the committee on resolutions was read and adopted. The first paragraph urged that all delegates on their return home bring to bear all possible pressure on their legislators for the passage of the West bill, which embodies the needs of the grocers, in the way of a garnishment bill, providing for a garnishment of 20 per cent on monthly salaries of from $15 to $30; one-third on salaries from $30 to $50, and 50 per cent on wages over $50 per month.

Trading stamps and gift schemes were strongly condemned, as was also the parcels post bill. The repeal of the national bankrupt law was also demanded.

The Hepburn pure food bill, now pending in congress, was indorsed.

DRUNKEN NEGRO USES GUN.

Shot His Landlord Who Had Asked for the Rent.

Columbus, Ga., July 20.—(Special.)—When J. H. Hawkins, a white farmer, who lives 1 mile northeast of the city, asked Archie Whitehead, a negro tenant on his place to pay his rent this afternoon, the negro, who was drinking, became insulting and struck at Mr. Hawkins, who knocked him down with a stick. Whitehead ran off and got a double-barrelled shotgun and opened fire upon Mr. Hawkins in the presence of J. L. Bullard and Joseph Ellison, at Bullard's store. Hawkins, who in the meantime had secured a pistol, sprang behind a tree. As Mr. Ellison and his little girl hurried into the store to get out of the range, a charge of shot whizzed by them. They were not struck, but had a very narrow escape. The negro reloaded his gun and fired both barrels at Mr. Hawkins, who shot at him four times with a pistol. Two of the shots entered Mr. Hawkin's arm, producing slikht wounds. A good many shots entered his clothing. The negro was not hurt.

Columbus police officers went out and arrested Whitehead late this afternoon.

Wife and Daughter of Moonshiner Have His Plant Destroyed.

Knoxville, Tenn., July 20.—Because the owner of an illicit distillery in Greene county, Tennessee, was recently badly hurt in a free-for-all fight at his still, has wife and daughter have turned informers and revenue officers have destroyed his plant. Dolly Hensly, wife of Harve Hensly, and daughter, Artie, are the women who turned up the plant. Hensly was found at his home, 3 miles from the still with three broken ribs and other injuries and when his wife told him she had informed on him his reply was that he did not care, as he expected to die any way. He could not be moved. The still destroyed was one of 80-gallon capacity. Lives of informers are usually held cheap in moonshine districts, but this case is an entirely unique one.

EX-GOVERNOR BULLOCK ON THE BOND QUESTION

Editor Constitution: The able argument of my friend, Hon. B. H. Mill, sustaining the Sharp's Riple Bonds in your edition of Sunday, the 10th, I have read with appreciation. There is one paragraph however, in Mr. Hill's paper upon which I desire to submit comment.

Mr. Hill says:

"The people of this state are a debt paying people; they are not looking for excuses to be set up as a reason for not paying an honest debt. They do not believe in paying fraudulent bonds foisted upon them by those who were not their true representatives, and for which they received no consideration, but the people of this state have always evinced unflinching fidelity to obligation."

The legislature of Georgia that authorized the endorsement of and issue of bonds which have been repudiated were as much the legal representatives of Georgia as the present honorable body now in session, and for the same reason the basis of our statehood is the act of congress which recognized us after the failure of the confederacy, and on that basis the legislature of 1868-69-70 was the "true representative" of Georgia, and its legislation, duly approved, is binding on the state.

As to the endorsements and bonds being "fraudulent," there has never yet been any adjudication by our state courts. The constitution adopted in 1877 prohibits our courts from ever hearing or determining the question of the legality of those obligations. The nearest approach we have had to an adjudication was the hearing before the democratic attorney general of New York state, who after hearing argument in favor of Colonel Nat Hammond, Pat Calhoun and others, distinguished lawyers, decided that savings banks of New York could not invest in Georgia bonds because that state was in default on her legal obligations. And the highest commercial body in the country—the exchange—refused to allow the Georgia bonds to be "listed" for the same reason.

The "consideration" which Georgia received is plain to every citizen who can read. The railroads were built and are in operation today. The great belt of southeast Georgia, before that time returned as wild land without value, is now teeming with population and productive industries. The legislature of today is about to make eight or more new counties from that section of our state, which but for the railroads built and encouraged by the legislature of 1867 would still be "wild land."

The state is now collecting each year in taxes on the enhanced values created by those roads, and on the roads themselves, more money than the interest on her liability which she repudiates. It is, therefore, idle to talk about "no consideration."

"Unflinching fidelity to obligation" should lead the state to at least open her own courts to her waiting creditors. The limitations as to "state aid" in the constitution of 1868 protected the state absolutely. She had a first llen on all the railroad property as her security for endorsing the bonds for half the value. And whenever the state has accepted her liability and honestly carried out its conditions she has met with no loss. Witness the Northeastern railroad.

Thirty-five years ought to be sufficient time for malignant, partisan hate to become entirely eliminated from the public mind, and to permit a calm, dispassionate consideration of our state's obligations. It is a finnacial, not a political issue, and we can thus give evidence of our "unflinching fidelity to obligations. RUFUS B. BULLOCK.

THE PASSING THRONG.

"Abe Fry? Why, Abe is now in New York with his kinspeople, and is showing ing decided signs of rapid improvement," said J. Moser, a well known New York drummer, who has been working the southern trade for years past, responding to a query by Clerk Calloway. "After Abe went to New York for treatment, it was found that he was suffering from a cancer on the tongue. For a while the sore was treated, but no improvement manifested itself. Then there was a consultation at which it was decided that about the only possible relief could be obtained by the knife. Abe was acquainted with the conditions and was informed that it was not a certainty the knife would effect the cure. He was told at the same time that it was his only chance. Always cool, never disturbed about the future, Abe invited the physicians and the surgeons to go on with the work, notwitstanding its great danger. The operation left him with slightly more than a half of a tongue, but within a few days he showed remarkable improvement, and when I heard from him last he was doing well. It is now thought he will show a complete recovery within a short time."

George Zimmer, known the south over, was explaining an invention he calls the "fish electrocutor" to a party of Beavers at the Piedmont yesterday afternoon.

"It's a great thing," said Mr. Zimmer. "With it there is no more playing a fish two hours and forty minutes before you land him. It, the 'fish electrocutor,' saves time, fish and profanity. It's just like this: A small, but powerful, battery is attached to the rod, which is connected with the hook by a light, pliable, insulated wire. When the fish takes the hook you press the button—and it is as good as a basket. By the old way, when you wanted to communicate with the fish, you simply dropped him a line. Now, you can communicate with him by just dropping him a wire. With the line, you always lost the biggest fish, and, of course, had to lie about it. But now you can take the biggest fish home. The cost of all this? The price is about $30 a pole. But if you add the incandescent light for near-sighted fish it will stand you a twenty extra. That's all."

Zimmer's hearers moved around that circular bend to that point where mint is always fragrant. But, that's another story.

"Birmingham needs only one thing on earth to beat the best town in the south," said Eugene Jacobs, manager of the Birmingham house, yesterday afternoon. "That one thing is Atlanta's spirit of unity. Over there, we have everything Atlanta has and more, too, in many ways. But when it comes to getting together like the people here in Atlanta do, it seems out of the question. Still, there is not a resident of the city of Birmingham who does not love that town, just like all Atlantans love Atlanta. Birmingham is today one of the most progressive and successful towns in the south. Within her limits are to be found everythng needed to show a growing city. The people are all wide-awake, energetic and progressive. They all swear by Birmingham, and are ever ready to do what they can to push the city along. The business men are a unit in anything that may result in good to Birmingham. No city of the south has better equipped or more successful business men than has Birmingham, and when once they get together there will be no city in the south in advance of the Magic City. See if what I have said doesn't come true. It won't take a long watch, either, to demonstrate that fact."

"I came to Atlanta to study the street car system," said G. G. Weikes, at the Kimball, last night. "Up our way we have heard much of your lines here. Some remarks have been kind; others have not. Still, I am here to see what you are doing in helping the people along in rapid transit. So far I have not been able to learn much, if anything, in advance of what we have. It's true, you have some heavier cars, and that these cars make more noise than the cars we use. However, I can't see that the system here in Atlanta is very much ahead of the one we have in Chattanooga. But then, I may learn more before I leave here. At least, I shall try to learn more."

R. H. Smith, of Evergreen, Ala., is at the Kimball.

Mrs. A. L. Morris, of Jasper, Ala., is at the Kimball.

C. H. Yentley, of Decatur, Ala., one of the leading lawyers of that state, is at the Kimball.

C. H. DeLametter, of Oxford, Ala., has rooms at the Kimball.

"When the Kimball is opened by the new lessees, Messrs. Lougee and Howe," remarked a well known traveling man yesterday, "Atlanta will gain not only two of the best equipped, most thoroughly trained hotel men in the country, but she will acquire two of the best and most completely devoted democrats in the country. It's true both have been living in the northwest for years. But, it's the politics of the northwest that makes a good democrat of a man. Here they will find themselves among friends, and here they will be able to see the ticket they are voting elected."

LORD CURZON SHOWN HONOR.

Declares For Strong Hand in Dealing With Ticket.

London, July 20.—The freedom of the city of London, in a gold casket, was presented to Lord Curzon, of Keddleston, viceroy of India, at the guild hall today with all the customary ceremonial.

The old city hall was filled with a distinguished gathering of celebrated ministers, Indian princes, officials, members of the house of commons, peers, etc. Lord Curzon, who was accompanied by Lady Curzon, was the subject of a memorable demonstration.

In the course of a speech Lord Curzon referred to Tibet. He said the Tibetans' insults could not any longer be borne. He was sent to India for the purpose, among other things, of guarding the British frontier, and he hoped that as a result of the expedition to Tibet the political intrigue in that country would cease and harmonious relations between India and Tibet would gradually be built up.

UP TO RAILROADS, SAYS W. E. NEWILL

President of Freight Bureau Discusses Recent Freight Decision.

All Atlanta just at present is interested in the warfare that is being waged by Atlanta shippers through the Atlanta freight bureau for better freight rates, both intrastate and interstate, the bureau claiming that Atlanta is being discriminated against in the present freight tariffs. President W. E. Newill, of the Atlanta freight bureau, and Assistant General Freight Agent L. Green, of the Southern railway, were both seen by a Constitution reporter yesterday and what these two gentlemen had to say on the present proposition is certain to be of pertinent interest to every Atlantan.

President Newill when seen said:

"In the first place I want to say that I am heartily in favor of The Constitution editorial and we certainly want the cooperation of the entire state press in our fight. When we started in on the adjusting of freight rates which we believed discriminated against Atlanta, the matter was purely a local one. Now it is different, for we have learned that shippers in all parts of Georgia are suffering from what they claim to be a discrimination of rates, and the fight is no longer one in which Atlanta alone is interested, but rather one that affects the best interests of the entire state of Georgia. Another thing, I don't mind saying that we have received communications from other cities in Georgia asking us how to proceed in regard to an adjustment of the present rates and promising us their hearty cooperation in the fight that we are now making.

"One thing is certain. This is not the fight of a few persons in Atlanta or of the shippers of Atlanta, but one in which the state will be actively interested and we are in it to stay until we have secured what we believe to be a fair adjustment of rates. It is not necessary to state at this time what steps we will take, but if the matter has to go to the courts, why, as I said before, we are in the fight to stay. Of course, just at present we are waiting to hear what the railroads intend to do in regard to the decision of the state railroad commission, in which they say that if these railroads do not give us some relief, they will take matters into their own hands and try and offset the present high interstate rates by lowering the intrastate tariffs.

"I also want to say that I read the editorial of The Constitution this morning with great interest, and it is one that is sure to be productive of good, as it sums up the case exactly. We cannot say at this time just what we will do or what we may be compelled to do, but as stated in the editorial, it is 'up' to the railroads as the case stands at present."

A Railroad View.

Assistant General Freight Agent L. Green, of the Southern railway, was also seen. He said:

"The railroads have done nothing as yet in the matter of the decision as handed down by the state railroad commission, for we have not yet received the decision officially. Of course, I am familiar with the points brought out in this decision, and I must say that we don't know what the state commission wants us to do. The commission does not state what it wants the railroads to do, and until it does this, the matter of complying with their request is naturally a difficult one.

"It is claimed that Atlanta is discriminated against in the matter of freight rates. I am not speaking of a few individual cases, but generally speaking Atlanta is not discriminated against. We think that we have shown evidence in proof of this statement, and we can give still further proof if necessary. You say that the Atlanta freight bureau intends to push the case. I cannot say what action the railroads would take in such an event, but so far as the present decision of the commission is concerned, it seems to me that the railroads will have to find out what the state commission wants before they could comply whether they wanted to or not.

"It seems that so far as the intrastate rates are concerned that the commission was of the opinion that Atlanta was not discriminated against, but, on the other hand, if an adjustment of rates was not made in reference to interstate freight traffic, the commission would in turn lower the present intrastate rates so that shippers would in this way have the alleged unreasonable interstate rates offset by lower intrastate rates. But as the decision of the state commission does not specify as to what it would have the railroads do in this matter before lowering the intrastate rates, I do not see how the railroads are going to try and adjust the alleged unreasonable rates that now exist."

AAttorney for Canal Zone.

Washington, July 20.—J. Harbourg Keedy, a New York attorney and former resident of Hagerstown, Md., was today appointed prosecuting attorney for the Panama canal zone. His appointment was recommended by General Davis, governor general of the canal strip. Mr. Keedy served as prosecuting attorney in Porto Rico during General Davis' administration as military governor, and prepared the code of laws afterwards adopted by the legislature and now in force.

LOAN SHARKS DEALT A BLOW

Senate Committee Makes Favorable Report Upon the Bill.

Unless the recommendation of the general judiciary committee is rejected, the senate will pass the money lenders' bill, regulating and controlling the small loan business and striking a death blow to the "loan shark" evil.

The committee, after hearing many arguments for the bill at past meetings, held another session yesterday afternoon to give the measure a final consideration. Objections had been urged to various features of the original bill, drawn by Attorney Linton Hopkins, on behalf of the Fulton county grand jury, and introduced in the senate by Mr. Howell, of the thirty-fifth. The bill, as reported, is a substitute drawn by the same lawyer in cooperation with W. Woods White, who was foreman of the grand jury which started the crusade against the loan evils.

When the committee assembled yesterday afternoon Senator Perry, of the thirty-third, chairman of the committee, said to Mr. Hopkins and Mr. White, who were present:

"Gentlemen, if you have any amendments or substitutes to offer we will consider them, but we do not care to hear any more speeches. The committee understands fully the evils to be corrected and is a unit and in hearty sympathy with the movement. We will adopt a favorable report at once, if you can submit a bill that will meet the requirements and not affect legitimate loans."

Mr. Hopkins thereupon drew from his pocket the prepared amendment and handed it to Senator Perry, with the remark:

"Gentlemen, all I wish to say is that but twenty days of this session remain and we request that you dispose of this matter with all possible haste, as in our opinion no bill before the legislature is so badly needed as this one regulating the money lending business."

Chairman Perry read the bill at the request of several committee members. The substitute instead of being a specific and general bill, stipulated that it related to only such loans as were made upon household furniture and goods, tools of trade, sewing machines, typewriters, musical instruments and wearing apparel. It further stipulated that no money lender should be able to swear out a warrant for cheating and swindling in a loan case without first making affidavit that he had conformed to the terms of the law. In other respects it was about the same as the previous measures submitted, charging the lender a license and allowing him to charge but 8 per cent interest and fees, fixed by a sliding scale and non-renewable.

As soon as the reading of the bill had been concluded several committeemen expressed approval of the measure as it then stood.

"That fits the case exactly," two or three said.

The chairman then asked what should be done with the matter, and a vote was taken, resulting in unanimous decision to recommend that the substitute do pass. Messrs. White and Hopkins left the committee room in a most jubilant state of mind, for the former had labored long and industriously to this end, and the lafter had done his best to draw a bill that would cure the evils laid bare by Mr. White and his grand jury associates.

OPPOSITION TO $1,000 TRIP

Appropriations May Be Turned Down By Aldermanic Board.

The appropriation of $1,000 for a committee to go abroad to inspect street paving will be met by some strong opposition when the aldermanic board meets this afternoon to consider the measure.

At its last meeting the city council voted to make the appropriation, and while the vote was almost unanimous, there was one member who did not take kindly to the plan. It was Alderman Girardeau, who remarked that he thought $500 was enough for the committee and said that perhaps the other $500 might be expended for a fishing trip.

When the matter is taken up by the aldermanic board this afternoon E. F. Childress, a well-known attorney, will appear before the board to make a protest as a citizen of Atlanta. He will take the position that such an appropriation is illegal and that the general council has no right to devote the taxpayers' money to such a purpose.

At a recent meeting of the street paving committee of the council it was stated that a better idea of pavements could be had if a committee was sent to other cities and an investigation made as to the life and durability of paving used in communities where experiments had been made with different materials. This was followed by a resolution to send the paving committee abroad and then came the appropriation of $1,000 for the expenses of the trip.

Since the action of the council the matter has been pretty freely discussed and there have been many adverse criticisms. It is believed the council acted without giving the matter due consideration, knowing that it would come up for final disposition in the aldermanic board, which has more than once served as a check to expenditures which the council had agreed to.

It is very doubtful if the aldermen will concur in the action of the council.

SAME OLD FIGHT BEFORE HOUSE

Effort to Be Made Again to Put Tax on Foreign Corporations.

The same fight that was made in the general assembly two years ago to put an occupation tax on foreign corporations doing business in Georgia through agents, will be made again today, when consideration of the general tax act is resumed in the house.

The amendment proposing this tax was offered by Mr. Hall, of Bibb, and differs somewhat from that of two years ago, the proposed tax being levied on a different basis and not quite so large.

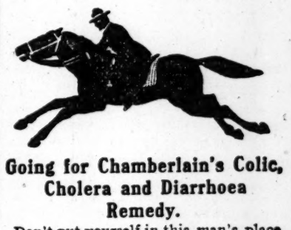

Two years ago this tax was put in the bill by the house and defeated in the senate.

The amendment now proposed and which will come up for discussion today is as follows:

"Section 15. Be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, that every corporation incorporated under the laws of any other state or any foreign country, except such corporations as pay to this state a specific occupation or license tax, or an income or percentage tax on gross premiums as elsewhere provided in this act, or under existing laws, doing business within this state, shall pay annually to the comptroller general, for the use of the state, an occupation or privilege tax for the privilege of exercising its corporate powers or franchises in this state, or carrying on its business in its corporate capacity in this state, of one-tenth of 1 per centum, to be computed upon the basis of the capital stock employed by it within this state, provided that the minimum occupation or privilege tax hereunder to be paid by each such corporation shall be $25 and no less sum for any calendar year or fraction thereof shall be assessed or receipted for by the comptroller general. The tax provided for in this section shall be due and payable before or on March 1 for the calendar year or fraction thereof ending December 31 preceding. The amount of capital stock employed within this state by any corporation coming under the provisions of this section, and upon which said occupation or privilege tax shall be due and payable, shall be ascertained as follows, to-wit: The ratio or percentage which the gross business done within this state in the calendar year or any fraction thereof, bears to the whole business of said corporation for such period, shall be the ratio or percentage within the meaning of this act, of its total capital stock, of capital stock employed within this state; that is to say, for illustration, if the business of the corporation done within this state is 10 per centum of its total business, then the capital stock employed within this state would be 10 per centum of its total capital stock, and so on. Every corporation liable to this occupation or privilege tax shall on or before the first day of March of each year file with the comptroller general, under oath of one of its executive officers or its resident agent in this state, if any, in such form as the comptroller general may prescribe, a statement showing its principal place of business, the date, place and authority of its incorporation, its chief executive officer and resident agent and principal agency or place of business in this state, if any, its capital stock, authorized and paid in, its total gross business done within this state for the calendar year or fraction thereof ending on December 31 preceding, and its total gross business for the same period, and at the time filing said sworn statement shall also pay to the comptroller general the amount of tax due the state hereunder, whereupon the comptroller general shall issue his formal receipt therefor This section of this act shall become operative on January 1, 1905, and the comptroller general shall advertise its provisions in each daily newspaper published within this state, once a week for four weeks, commencing not later than December 1, 1904. The same penalties provided for other tax defaulters under this act and applicable to corporations making returns to the comptroller general, shall be applicable to defaulters under this section, and the comptroller general shall enforce the same by execution as provided by law."

The first stage of the campaign has been a brilliant succession of Japanese coups and victories.

An Injudicious Expenditure.

It will strike the ordinary citizen and taxpayer that there is good ground for the protest that is being entered against the expenditure of $1,000 of the city's money for a trip of the members of the council's street committee upon a tour of investigation of paving conditions in other cities.

As a general proposition, it is wise in the members of the municipal legislative body to guard against the appearance of anything like a junket. While that may be too strong a word to use in this particular connection, there seems little occasion for any such visit on the part of a council committee as is contemplated by this appropriation.

The city of Atlanta has tried practically every form of street paving. If our own experience has not been sufficient to point the way to a decision as to what form of pavement is best for the business streets and what for the residence streets, there should be no difficulty in securing the desired information from the responsible officials of other cities. Certainly information upon the life of different kinds of pavements in other cities must be secured, to be of any value at all, from the officials of those cities; and this can be done without incurring anything like the expense now contemplated.

If it is necessary for anybody to visit different cities in order to secure these statistics and facts, the city engineer or any other one man could do it as well as a large council committee.

The $1,000 could be far better expended in some other direction.

If the members of the street committee do not believe this, it is only necessary for them to take a look at some of the city's streets which are so badly in need of immediate attention.

Duke Boris as a Warrior.

Times have changed since the kings and nobles were warriors who set their subjects heroic examples on the field of battle and exhibited qualities of martial leadership which made brilliant the pages of history.

The modern king is a "tin soldier" and the heirs to the throne are generally worse than useless to the throne and fatherland in time of war. They go to the front, to be sure, but the things they do at the front are anything but inspiring to the soldiery and creditable to the royal family.

As if the example of the "sprigs of royalty" who went from London to South Africa were not nauseous enough, salacious as it was with scandal involving accompanying grand dames, the Russian princes who hold commissions in the royal army seem intent on giving it cards and spades and beating it hands down.

The American reading public remembers Grand Duke Boris, who is but two lives removed from the succession to the throne of Czar Nicholas—the Boris who shocked us by drinking fizz out of the slipper of a chorus girl in Chicago a couple of years or so ago. When the war in the Far East broke out, this grand duke, who is all kinds of officers in the crack commands of the empire, journeyed to the front in great military state, with a grandiose patriotism most impressive to the peasant rank and file. He was going to do all kinds of things to the "yellow heathen" for the glory of crown and fatherland.

In Port Arthur, Duke Boris constituted himself a royal nuisance by the characteristic capers he cut there while Togo was daily dropping his visiting cards in the shape of shells, and when Oku landed in the rear to cut off the fortress from communication with Kuropatin, Viceroy Alexieff did his best to have the young man bottled up in the port, but he escaped on the last train north while the Japs were in the act of throwing their line across the peninsula.

Now we hear that the gay duke, who has been hanging about Kuropatkin's headquarters at Mukden, has got himself ordered home in disgrace by the czar, at the peremptory request of the commander in chief in the field. There is a story to the effect that the royal sprig peeled the bark off the tip of Kuropatkin's nose with his sword point, but this may be an exaggeration.

It is said Boris arrived at Mukden with a suite filling four private cars and including a harem that an eastern potentate might have deemed appropriate to his station. The female aggregation included some favorites of the St. Petersburg vaudeville stage, with uniformed maids, mountains of luggage, a Paris chef and a corps of expert waiters and flunkeys. The ducal commissariat was luxurious as to canned delicacies and the canteen attachment contained the most exclusive brands. Boris, the dispatch says, "proceeded to demoralize the entire garrison. He had parties which became indescribable orgies, treated everybody with insolent disdain and drew his sword on Kuropatkin when the general sent for him and ordered him to dismiss his suite, mend his conduct and conform to ordinary discipline."

It is said the escapades of the grand duke at the seat of war would fill a volume, although few of them would be fit to print. A worse libertine and degenerate it would be hard to imagine. His influence on the young officers who predominate in the Russian army has been exceedingly vicious and several of them have committed suicide because of the disgrace into which he led them. Wherever he goes is a saturnalia of vice and moral abandon.

In obedience to the czar's command, Boris took the next train for the west in a very crestfallen condition, while, it is reported, the day following Kuropatkin bundled off his harem and other gay hangers-on in an ordinary troop train, with army fare to subsist on across Siberia. The grand duke will report himself as under arrest to Grand Duke Serge, governor of Moscow, and will probably be "banished" for one year to his father's princely estate in southern Russia.

A fine royal example!

Reformers or Fakirs?

Acting as reformers or masquerading in that role, certain eminent republicans have succeeded recently in forcing themselves to the front in a way that has compelled their party to provide them with good, fat offices. Are they the genuine reform article or are they spurious? The events of the next few months should determine.

In Wisconsin, Governor LaFollette, who has been openly and emphatically repudiated by the national convention of his party, is keeping up his fight for reelection as a republican, although the issues upon which he is making his contest are essentially democratic. Were he altogether sincere, were it his desire to benefit the state rather than to secure a continuance of power for himself, he would join forces with the democrats and accomplish the defeat of the corporation wing of the party which is fighting him, without regard to whether he himself, or some good democrat who holds the same views as himself, gets the gubernatorial office.

In Minnesota, Governor Van Sant, who instituted the merger proceedings only to see President Roosevelt steal his thunder, has been run over by the big railroad interests, who have named P. C. Dunn as the republican nominee for governor as a rebuke to Van Sant and other republicans who dared insist that the large corporations obey the laws. Van Sant is now being urged to head an independent movement whose sole purpose is to put men in office who will see that the laws are enforced, but, of course, the changes are being rung on the "party loyalty" argument to induce him to support the candidate of the crowd whose illegal actions he took to the courts. Is he for the party or for the people? The issue is up to him.

West Virginia has a republican reformer who has just scored a hollow victory in the state convention. He is W. M. O. Dawson, who has secured the nomination for governor. Dawson is the author of a corporation tax law which is given his name, and which aims to make the big railroad corporations pay heavier taxes than they have been doing. Mr. Dawson secured his nomination after a contest full of bitterness, but his enemies of the opposing faction made the nominations for other state officers in a way that gives them a majority of the board of public works, which fixes the taxes of the railroads. Not only will Dawson's hands be tied, if he is elected, but the word has gone out to republicans of corporation affiliations that they must see that he is defeated.

Is he, or are any of these others, strong enough in the faith they have professed to break party ties and join with genuine reformers to accomplish something practical? They may be, but experience has taught us to doubt the sincerity of republican reformers. The case of Governor Cummins, of Iowa, who, professing to be the apostle of tariff reform, has permitted himself to be whipped into line by the high protection bosses, is a recent enough illustration.

Somehow the country at large has little faith in these republican reformers. Too many of them have proved to be nothing else than politicians hungering to hold office. It is asking too much to demand that we take the tribe seriously when we have presented to us such a glittering object lesson in the case of the one-time reformer, but long since professional politician, who is the present accidental occupant of the white house, and who is the republican nominee for the presidency.

As Northern Negroes View It.

The following highly interesting communication to The Washington Post presents, in a nutshell as it were, the race question as it appears to the negroes of the north:

Editor Post: As a colored man I wish to call attention to the difference between the republican and the democratic national conventions. At the republican convention the colored man was treated as a companion, friend, and brother. There he was made to feel as if he were not only a political, but a social equal. The delegates followed the advice and example of our beloved President Theodore Roosevelt, who teaches that the colored man deserves to be treated as a social equal. To emphasize this fact, he had the courage to have at his table Professor Booker T. Washington. If Roosevelt is elected it will so encourage the colored men that we will demand that Professor Booker Washington shall be the republican candidate for vice president in 1908.

Let not my colored brethren forget that scene in the republican convention when a beautiful white girl was placed upon the stage, and by her side a negro boy. They then placed flags in their hands and allowed them to lead the cheering, thus making the first and grandest example of the equality of the races that history records.

In the democratic convention there was not a single colored man. It was in word and in deed a white man's convention of a white man's party. All hail to Roosevelt, who has given the poor negro so much to encourage him to persist in his political and social rights.

CITY TO CONSIST OF ELEVEN WARDS

Redistricting Committee Agreed to Unanimous Report Yesterday.

Plan As Published in The Constitution Was Changed Slightly. Council Meets This Afternoon To Consider Matter. Favorable Action Certain.

The special committee appointed by the general council to redistrict the city met yesterday morning and decided to divide the city into eleven wards, instead of seven as at present.

There were seven members of the committee present as follows:

Aldermen Inman, Woodward, Harwell and Terry, Councilmen Terrell, Holland and Breitenbucher.

The other four members did not put in an appearance and it was stated that one of them, Councilman Hynds, would oppose the eleven ward plan.

The seven members present voted unanimously for the plan submitted by the city engineer after a few changes had been made. There was a committee of citizens from the present fourth ward who did not like the proposed line between the new fifth and sixth wards and the change they suggested was adopted. A change was made in the line between the proposed third and fourth wards. It was at first placed along Grant street and afterwards changed to Hill street. Another change was made by reducing the size of the first or central ward and adding more to the third and fifth wards.

Alderman Inman wanted care to be taken not to have too many wards on the "south side" and too few on the "north side."

After the changes suggested had been adopted the committee took up the wards one at a time and adopted them. Then all the wards were adopted as a whole.

On motion of Alderman Harwell the mayor was requested to call a meeting of the general council for this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock for the purpose of acting on the report of the committee.

It is believed the eleven ward plan agreed upon by the committee will be adopted by the council, although it seems certain that there will be a fight made on the plan, as Councilman Hynds is said to be against it, and Councilman Quillian said yesterday that he was in favor of the nine ward plan and would place that before council as a substitute.

The committee yesterday was very harmonious and very unanimous. The meeting did not last an hour and there was very little discussion about the matter.

The city attorney informed the committee that quick action would be necessary as a bill would have to be passed by the legislature amending the charter before the wards could be changed. He stated that it would not be necessary for the councilmen and aldermen to vote separately on the measure.

As soon as the plan is acted upon by the general council today the resolution adopted will be sent to the mayor for his approval.

The new eleven wards as agreed upon by the committee is as follows:

First Ward.

The first ward is in the center of the city and bounded as follows: On the north by Cain and part of Magnolia streets; on the east by Central place and Butler street; on the south by Fair street; on the west by the Central railroad and Elliott street.

Second Ward.

The second ward limits are: On the north by the Central railroad and Fair street; on the east, Pulliam street; on the south, the city limits; on the west, Humphries street.

Third Ward.

The third ward is bounded on the north by Central place and Fair street; on the east by Hill street; on the south by the city limits; on the west by Pulliam street.

Fourth Ward.

The fourth ward is bounded on the north by the Georgia railroad; on the east and south by the city limits; on the west by Hill street.

Fifth Ward.

The fifth ward ambles in many directions. It commences at the corner of Butler and Houston streets, runs on Houston and Irwin east to Randolph, then north to North avenue, then east to Southern railroad, along railroad to Williams mill crossing, then west to Prospect street, southeast to Highland avenue, northeast to Augusta avenue, then to Moreland avenue and the Georgia railroad, along the railroad west to Butler street, and north on Butler street to Houston street.

Sixth Ward.

The sixth ward is bounded on the north by Piedmont park limits; on the east by Randolph street; on the south by Irwin street; on the west by Butler street.

Seventh Ward.

The seventh ward is bounded on the north by city limits; on the east by Butler street; on the south by Cain street; on the west by Spring street.

Eighth Ward.

The eighth ward is bounded on the north by city limits; on the east by Spring street; on the south by Cain street; on the west by Western and Atlantic railroad.

Ninth Ward.

The ninth ward is in the shape of a triangle with the city limits and the Western and Atlantic railroad on the north, east and west and Foundry street on the south.

Tenth Ward.

The tenth ward is bounded on the north by Foundry street; on the east and south by Elliott street and the Central railroad; on the south by the Central railroad and Greensferry avenue, and on the west by city limits.

Eleventh Ward.

The eleventh ward takes in all of West End with an addition bounded by Greensferry avenue and Humphries street.

REPAIRS ON ASPHALT TO BE MADE BY CAR CO.

Section 1338 of the city code, which was shown the city authorities by The Constitution yesterday and which caused the Georgia Railway and Electric Company to agree to repave the Peachtree street asphalt, is as follows:

"The street inspector, or the person appointed by the commissioner of public works, is directed to notify the several street railway companies now, or hereafter, doing business in the city of Atlanta, what parts of the sidewalks or streets of the city crossed or used by such street railway companies are out of repair on account of tracks or running of the cars of such street railway companies, or from the manner in which said street railway is built and operated on the public sidewalks and streets of the city of Atlanta, and such street railway company failing on five days' notice, to keep and put such sidewalks so crossed or used by such street railway company, in good, smooth, passable condition, it shall be the duty of the commissioner of public works to prevent such street railway company from crossing or using street or sidewalk so out of repair and not in good, smooth passable condition, on account of such street railway company, until the same can be properly prepared and placed in good condition for pedestrians or vehicles, which shall be done by the commissioner of public works and the cost of such work shall be estimated by the commissioner of public works and returned to the clerk of council, who shall issue execution therefor against such railway company, and place the same in the hands of the marshal, who shall collect and levy the same on any property of the street railway company as usual in such cases for sales under city tax fi. fas."

Section of City Code Shown City Authorities by The Constitution Brings Quick Results---Car Company Clearly Responsible.

The asphalt pavement on Peachtree street between the street car tracks will be repaired by the Georgia Railway and Electric Company.

After several weeks of delay, during which the responsibility for the repair of theis pavement was shifted from the car company to the city and back again. The city authorities felt powerless to force the car company to repair the pavement, and the matter was in a state of great uncertainty until The Constitution yesterday morning called the attention of the city to section 1338 of the city code. The activity that ensued resulted in an agreement upon the part of the street railway company to repair the paving.

When The Constitution called the attention of the city authorities to section 1338 of the city code, Commissioner Collier, whose duties in reference to paving repairs are outlined in this section, consulted Mayor Howell and was instructed by the mayor to notify the Georgia Railway and Electric Company that unless the repairs were made within five days the street would be closed to street car traffic and the repairs made by the city at the expense of the street railway company.

The discussion over this pavement was brought to a sudden termination yesterday when President Arkwright, after having been notified that the city would force the street railway company to make the repairs, called upon Mayor Howell and expressed his willingness to repair the street. Mr. Arkwright asked that the matter be delayed until the return of the city's special pavement committee from its tour of inspection. The request was granted by the mayor; those who use Peachtree street will be jubilant when they learn that the eyesores will be removed from the street.

Brought Quick Results.

Immdiately upon being notified by Commissioner Collier and furnished with a copy of the section, Mr. Arkwright called upon Mayor Howell with the result as stated in the foregoing.

Until the attention of Commissioner Collier was called to the section of the code, the city authorities felt that their hands were tied in the matter, and that the paving would remain in its present disgraceful condition unless the street railway company repaired it of its own accord or unless the city undertook the work.

From the events of the past few days, it seemed unlikely that the street railway company would take any steps to repair the pavement unless the city could force it to do so. There were no funds in the city treasury with which to make the repairs, and the city officials seemed to regard the circumstance as one that could not be avoided.

When The Constitution showed Street Commissioner Collier the law which makes it his duty to force the street railway company to repair pavings traversed by its tracks, Mr. Collier immediately proceeded to set the proper machinery in motion to put the proposition up to the Georgia Railway and Electric Company.

The law is plain and reads as though it had been written for this particular case. It declares it to be the duty of the commissioner of public works to force the street car company to repair the asphalt or other pavement traversed by its tracks, even if the damage is caused by the manner in which the track is constructed or the cars operated. If necessary the work of repairing must be done just as often as the pavement is damaged or becomes rough or impassable.

Duty Made Plain

When shown the law yesterday by Commissioner Collier and a representative of The Constitution, Mayor Howell said to Mr. Collier:

"Your duty under this law is very plain. You will have to confer with President Arkwright, of the street car company, show him this law and tell him you will enforce it."

Mr. Collier's reply was that he thought the city engineer's department was looking after the Peachtree pavement.

"I never shirk a duty," he said, "and I only wished to know whether the city administration would back me up in the enforcement of this ordinance. I will see President Arkwright and give him the five days' notice required by the ordinance for the street car company to put the Peachtree pavement next to the tracks in a good condition."

It has been admitted all along by the city engineer that the cause of the asphalt pavement getting out of repair was the weight of the cars on the rails and crossties. In such a case, section 1338 of the city code does not provide any excuse for the car company, but on the other hand states that if the pavement is injured because of the "manner in which said street railroad is built and operated," the company shall be liable.

President Arkwright has stated that the asphalt pavement between the car tracks from Ellis to Pine streets would be repaired at the expense of the company which did the paving, but the rest of the pavement from Pine street to the city limits was to receive no immediate attention. The city repaired the pavement referred to only a few months ago and there was no more money for repair purposes.

Mayor Howell had decided to call the attention of the council to the matter, but when he was shown the law on the subject he gave a different direction about the needed repairs to the asphalt pavement.

Could Force Payment.

Not only can the city force the street car company to pay for the repairs now needed, but the commissioner of public works can take steps to make the company reimburse the city for the expenditure of $1,500, which was paid out last fall for repairing the pavement between the car tracks.

In this connection, the commissioner of public works states that there are other streets in the city where the pavement has been injured by the tracks of the street car company, and when he has finished with the Peachtree pavement he may direct his attention to the other streets in the city.

Mr Arkwright's Statement.

Mr. Arkwright furnishes The Constitution with the following card:

Editor Constitution: It was with a good deal of surprise that I noticed in your issue of today an interview on the subject of the Peachtree street paving, purporting to have been had with me. I don't mind your publishing anything that I do say, but I do seriously object to being given credit for a statement I did not make, which, furthermore, does not in any way represent the position of our company.

Please let me, therefore, deny the statement contained in your article credited to me; particularly let me deny that part of it in which I am quoted as saying that the cause of the pavement getting into bad repair is the fact that the track bears down upon the pavement. I did not say this to your reporter, and he evidently misunderstood me. The real cause of the pavement being in bad repair is that the pavement is worn out and is an unsuitable pavement anyhow.

The only possible foundation for the interview attributed to me in your paper is that yesterday afternoon one of your reporters called me over the telephone and asked if there was anything new in the Peachtree street asphalt matter. I replied, "Not that I know of." He then inquired when the asphalt company was going to repair the section between Ellis and Pine streets. I said, "I don't know." He then asked me if I had ordered them to repair it, and I told him "No." He then asked me when I would do it. I told him "I would go over the matter with the city engineer and then take it up with the asphalt company."

This is all that occurred. You can readily see there are many things attributed to me that I did not say.

On the subject of Peachtree street pavment, however, I do claim that the street railroad company is not liable to keep it in repair any more than the property owners along the street are liable to keep it in repair. Furthermore, it is impossible to repair it. The pavement is such that it cannot be repaired. The best evidence of this is that something like $2,000 was spent last fall in patching it up, and the places that were patched are now in worse condition than they were before they were patched. There is only one thing that can be done to the Peachtree street pavement, and that is to repave the street. The pavement is worn out, except that part between the street railway tracks from Pine to Ellis streets, and the pavement should be condemned and the street repaved upon the assessment plan, assessing the property owners and the street railroad company. This would bear harder upon the street railroad company than any one else. Notwithstanding this, however, I think it ought to be done, and I have stated so to the city officials, and I repeat it now, and I furthermore say that the street railroad company is perfectly willing to pay its proportion under this plan toward the repavement of the street, and it is willing to do so because it thinks the street should be repaved.

Your article created the impression that there is some issue between the city of Atlanta and the Georgia Railway and Electric Company. You do both a very great injustice in this. There is absolutely no dispute of any kind between us on the subject of the Peachtree street paving. The city authorities understand that we objected to being assessed for repavement of other streets where the present pavement is not worn out, but they also know that no objection will come from us to bearing our part in the repavement of any street when it is worn out, including Peachtree street.

Yours very truly,
P. S. ARKWRIGHT, President.

T. E. KINSEY GETS PROMOTION

W. M. Camp Also Promoted To Atlanta District Superintendency of Pullman Co.

The news of the appointment of T. E. Kinsey, district superintendent of the Pullman company at Atlanta, to be district superintendent at Philadelphia, was received yesterday. Together with the news of this promotion came the announcement that Assistant Superintendent William M. Camp has been promoted to the position of district superintendent in Atlanta.

The announcement of the promotion of these two Atlantans was received with genuine pleasure on every side in the Atlanta railroad world yesterday. Since Mr. Kinsey's arrival in Atlanta the Pullman service has been so greatly improved as to be responsible for deserving compliments from all parts of the entire southeast which is embraced in his territory. While his many friends were more than glad to hear of his promotion to the Philadelphia district, which is one of the largest and most important in the entire country, they all expressed sincere regret that the change necessitated his leaving Atlanta.

Mr. Camp, too, was the recipient of congratulations and there isn't a harder working or more competent railroad man in Atlanta. As assistant superintendent he has become familiar with his new duties and as he has for a long time been widely known for his knowledge of details connected with the company, the people of the south are assured of continued good service so far as the Pullman cars are concerned.

STOCK YARDS BRING $120,750

Brady Union Stock Yards Sold Yesterday Morning.

Sale of Immense Property At Auction May Mean Much For Atlanta As An Improvement of Yards Is Expected To Result.

The Brady Union stock yards, one of the biggest concerns of the kind in the country, which was recently placed in the hands of a receiver, was yesterday sold by Referee Percy Adams to Attorneys O. E. and M. C. Horton for $120,750.

The bids were opened in Mr. Adams' office yesterday morning at 10 o'clock and there were five bids. The bidders were allowed to add to the figures given in their sealed bids and the property was secured by Messrs. Horton.

O. E. Horton declines to divulge the names of the parties for whom he acted in making the purchase and states that this will be made public at the proper time.

The general impression prevailed yesterday that the John A. Miller feed and sales stables was interested in the purchase. Officers of this firm, however, declare that they are not the purchasers and disavow any knowledge of the parties for whom the sale was closed by Messrs. Horton.

It is a well known fact that the Miller company has recently been offered $200,000 for its Marietta street property by the Louisville and Nashville railroad, and this, in connection with the sale yesterday, has created the impression that the Miller company intends selling its city property, moving to the Brady Union stock yards property and organizing a mammoth company for the conduct of a business that has been rapidly increasing during the past fifteen years.

A Full Statement.

As a result of the sale yesterday the creditors of the Brady Union stock yards will probably receive almost dollar for dollar of the amounts that were owed them at the time the property was taken in charge by the courts. T. D. Meador, who was receiver for the concern, stated yesterday that under the circumstances the sale was a good one for the defunct concern and at the same time was a bargain for the purchasers.

At the time the courts were asked to take charge of the stock yards it was generally understood that the step was forced by a lack of capital. The movements in the case were friendly creditors and the proceedings were instituted with a view to settling up the affairs in the most economical manner possible.

The property of the stock yards consists of many acres of valuable land and an equipment that is said to be unsurpassed in this section of the country. Buyers and sellers from all sections of the country were attracted here by reason of the many advantages offered.

If the Miller company has acquired an interest in the property and the company is reorganized by a combination of the Miller company and the old Brady company, the organization will be one of the largest and strongest in the country, and Atlanta will become the greatest mule and horse market in the world.

The developments, especially in connection with the rumors of the part taken by the Miller company, are of unusual importance to Atlanta in a commercial sense.

Night Was Her Terror.

"I would cough nearly all night long," writes Mrs. Charles Applegate, of Alexandria, Ind., "and could hardly get any sleep. I had consumption so bad that if I walked a block I would cough frightfully and spit blood, but, when all other medicines failed, three $1.00 bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery wholly cured me and I gained 58 pounds." It's absolutely guaranteed to cure Coughs, Colds, LaGrippe, Bronchitis and all Throat and Lung Troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at all drug stores.

CIGARETTE GIFT IS ILLEGAL.

Woman Bound Over For Giving Cigarettes to a Youth.

"You cannot sell, give or even throw cigarettes to a minor. It matters not whether he has an order for them or not. There is a state law against it, and I will bind you over in the sum of $100 for trial in the state courts."

Judge Broyles remarked this to Mrs. Annie Solomon, a white woman, who keeps a store on Decatur street, when she appeared in police court yesterday afternoon for selling cigarettes to a minor.

When C. T. Warren, of 18 Hill street, went to his home Tuesday afternoon he found Clarence Warren, his 11-year-old son, as sick as it is possible for a boy to get. Inquiry brought out the fact that the little fellow had smoked an entire box of cigarettes during the day and was then suffering for it.

The Warren boy said he bought the cigarettes from Mrs. Solomon and Mr. Warren had Patrolman Joe White make a case against her. The defendant said that the boy had been given the cigarettes, but that he had an order for them.

CONVICTS TO BE RETURNED.

When Free Miners Return To Places Left By Them.

Montgomery, Ala., July 20.—(Special.)—Acting Governor Cunningham today announced that as soon as free miners got ready to return to work, convicts recently transferred to No. 3 Pratt City must be returned to their places. He takes the ground that state's convicts shall not be allowed to interfere with the work of the free miners, and that they shall not be employed at places where the driving out of free labor will work injury to property.

STATE GOSSIP CAUGHT IN CAPITAL CORRIDORS

Congressman L. F. Livingston was a visitor at the capitol yesterday and talked interestingly of work on the $1,000,000 annex to the federal prison. Said he:

"The sum of $200,000 was appropriated last session of congress to begin this annex. The architect and Colonel Clay, representing the department of justice, have reported plans, etc., and work on the excavations and foundations will begin at once. This annex will be 560 feet long and will stand in front of the present building. When completed it will take care of 1,500 prisoners.

"There are only two federal penitentiaries in the United States, the one here and that one at Fort Leavenworth, Kans. The prison here accommodates nearly 500 prisoners, and that in Kansas about 1,500. Besides these there are about 3,000 prisoners being boarded by the government in state penitentiaries at Albany, N. Y., and Columbus, Ohio. The board of these last costs 50 per capita a day, while the board of those confined in the government's own prisons costs but 41½ cents a day and the labor of the convict goes to the benefit of the government.

"The new annex in Atlanta will accommodate about half of the prisoners now in state penitentiaries, and can be indefinitely enlarged later. But the United States needs another federal penitentiary, probably in Albany or some other eastern city."

While at the capitol Colonel Livingston also stated that he was going to have congress look into the matter of the war department's discrimination against Georgia in the number of state troops allowed to participate in the Manassas military maneuvers.

"Georgia is allowed to send only 1,500 men," said the colonel, "and when congress meets I am going to have this discrimination looked into to see why Georgia was not allowed her full quota."

Governor Terrell approved three bills yesterday, these being:

By Mr. Hopkins of the Seventh—To amend an act incorporating the city of Thomasville so as to provide for the election of the city clerk by the qualified voters of said city.

By Mr. Sweat of the Fifth—To revise the superior court calendar for the counties composing the Brunswick judicial circuit and for other purposes.

By Mr. Hopkins of the Seventh—To amend an act approved November 30, 1900, establishing a system of public schools in the city of Thomasville and for other purposes.

The bill by Messrs. Davison of Green and Underwood of White, providing for the payment, in case of a pensioner's death before the annual distribution of pensions, of his pension to the ordinary of his county for the benefit of his estate, is being considered by Attorney General Hart at the instance of the governor. It may be vetoed on the ground of unconstitutionality.

State School Commissioner Merritt yesterday received notice from Hon. T. E. Brown declining the nomination for county school commissioner of Haralson county, which was given him last February. Mr. Brown would have gone into office this fall.

Professor Merritt left the city yesterday for a stay of a few days in Rockhill, S. C., where an educational meeting is in session at the Winston Training school.

FOR SWINDLING WOMAN IS HELD

Mrs. Hooper Buys Goods on Credit of Another.

Mrs. Annie Hooper, wife of T. W. Hooper, a plumber, residing at 90 Plum street, was arrested yesterday morning by Detectives White and Simpson and charged with cheating and swindling.

At the time of the arrest Mrs. Hooper was at Keely's dry goods house, where it is alleged, she passed herself off as Mrs. L. M. Harrison, of 60 East Cain street, and secured goods valued at about $65.

It is claimed by the arresting officer that Mrs. Hooper secured goods valued at $20 from Rich Bros., $40 from J. M. High Co., and a hat or two from Miss Mary Ryan. The detectives say that Mrs. Hooper has been obtaining goods on false orders for the past two years. At times Mrs. Hooper is said to have personated Mrs. Harrison, and at others to have presented orders purporting to be from the same person.

Mrs. Hooper was transferred from police barracks to the court of Justice of the Peace Orr, where she waived a preliminary hearing and gave bond in the sum of $200 for her appearance.

Mrs. Hooper is a handsome young woman, dresses stylishly and has always borne the very best reputation in the community in which she resides.

Several Buildings Demolished--Corn and Cotton Ruined.

Americus, Ga., July 20.—(Special.)—A cyclone struck the Sumter county poor farm, near Americus, this afternoon, doing much property damage, but resulting in no loss of life. A terrific hail storm followed in the wake of the cyclone, ruining crops of corn and cotton.

On the L. D. Law farm, adjoining the poor house, every out building was destroyed. The dwelling was shaken from its foundations, the terrified inmates escaping the falling timbers. One large tree was carried bodily a half-mile by the cyclone.

MISS RHODES MAKES HER BOND

She Killed Her Brother in Law At Elba, Ala.

Foreign Missionary Society.

Norwood, Ga., July 20.—(Special.)—The annual meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society came to a close on Tuesday evening. This meeting was one of the most successful ever held by the society. Many persons of either sex, who prior to this were opposed to foreign missions, were converted to the cause.

Mrs. Mary L. Hargrve, Bible teacher of the Scarritt Bible school, delivered several interesting talks on mission work, interspersed with accounts of her tour of the holy land.

"AM NOT IN LINE," SAYS JOHNSON

Commissioner Denies That He Is Lined-Up for Moon.

Police Commissioner George Johnson is not lined up with any faction in the board of police commissioners, and says he will vote for or against Moon and Tibbs as he construes the evidence.

This statement was made by Commissioner Johnson yesterday afternoon.

"I'm not mixed up in this Gorman matter," said Commissioner Johnson, "and am not lined up with any faction. I'm going to vote for or against Moon and Tibbs as I see the evidence, and no one, two or more commissioners can influence my vote. I'm going to deliver my part of the goods when the time to vote comes."

Gorman will be dismissed from the police department today by Chief of Police John W. Ball.

Butler Makes Affidavit.

In speaking of the matter yesterday Chief Ball said he did not want any person a member of the department who was distasteful to the members of the board of police commissioners, and that if Butler would make an affidavit that what he had said relative to the Gorman conversation was true, he would dismiss Gorman.

Late last night Butler made an affidavit before Notary Virgil Cook to the effect that Gorman did say that Captain Moon and Tibbs should be fired from the force, and that Commissioners Brotherton and Fox ought to get out for siding with Moon.

This affidavit was placed in the hands of Chief Ball last night. Gorman will be notified today.

In speaking of the matter Gorman says he did not make the remark attributed to him.

Captain Moon said last night that he was informed of the conversation by a policeman, and that when he went to Butler about the matter the conductor said the statement was true, and that he would swear to it, if necessary.

"It was merely a question of veracity," said Chief Ball. "One differs with the other. Gorman says he did not make the remark and Butler has sworn that he did. That ends it all. I hate to have to give Gorman up, as he is a good, careful, conscientious man, and knows how to take care of his animals."

Commissioner Johnson said yesterday that he understood his name was not mentioned by Gorman in the conversation, and the report of Sergeant Whitley to Chief Ball is also said not to contain the name of Commissioner Johnson.

WON'T WORK WITH NEGRO.

Masons On Government Work Go Out On Strike.

Washington, July 20.—A committee of striking bricklayers who had been employed on construction work at the Washington barracks, today formally notified Captain John S. Sewell, corps of engineers, who is in charge of the work, of the decision of the local union sanctioning the walkout that followed the employment of Benby Taylor, a non-union bricklayer. Captain Sewell announced that as the government officer in charge he accepted the situation and declined to indicate his probable steps to continue the work. Taylor was the solitary bricklayer working at the barracks today.

COMPANY FILED MANY TRANSFERS

Deeds for Right of Way to Depot Were Filed Yesterday.

Warranty deeds for lots situated beyond the new passenger depot and purchased two years ago in order to secure a right of way into the city were sent into the clerk's office in the court house yesterday morning for recording.

The property disposed of in these deeds is conservatively estimated at $200,000. The deeds were filed by the Title Guarantee and Trust Company.

The total number of deeds amounted to 178. This is the largest number ever filed at one time in the clerk's office and breaks all record both for number and for value.

The entire office force was at work all day on the papers, and when the time for closing up came the task was not finished. On account of the great number, it was impossible to get an estimate of the amount involved in this transfer of real estate. It was also difficult to tell exactly how much was given for any piece of property on account of the fact that each transfer was made for and in consideration of so much money and for other valuable consideration. In some cases the amount given was insignificant, but the valuable consideration would make the sale a valuable one.

Two years ago this property was purchased when it announced that there would be erected a depot in the city to relieve the long-felt want of such a structure.

At that time the immense deals in Atlanta real estate startled the real estate men of Atlanta, and every possible effort was made to get the inside facts concerning these big purchases.

This property bought by the company is situated just beyond the present new depot, and was purchased in order to give a right of way into the city. The company is the virtual owner of several streets. Large real estate deals were made by which several hundred lots were purchased from the owners of property on Mangum, Markham, Haynes, Magnolia, Echo, Bellwood, Nelson, Rhodes, West Hunter and other streets in that vicinity.

The property was deeded by the original owners to P. S. Arkwright and R. E. Cullinane. A number of deals were made December 29, 1902, and other deals were made in January, 1903. All this property was in the hands of these two men by February, 1903, and the company was free to carry out its plans.

When this property was secured it was transferred by P. S. Arkwright and R. E. Cullinane to the Fulton Realty and Investment Company. The largest deed filed yesterday was one by P. S. Arkwright to the Fulton Realty and Investment Company transferring to them 128 lots situated on Mangum, Markham, Elliott, West Hunter, Rhodes, Haynes, Magnolia, Foundry and other streets in that vicinity, for and in consideration of $100,000 and other valuable considerations. This indenture was made January 28, 1903.

Other valuable property was also turned over to the Realty and Investment Company on this date by P. S. Arkwright and R. E. Cullinane. The latest deed filed was one made by P. S. Arkwright to the Fulton Realty and Investment Company, transferring property beginning at the corner of Foundry and Mangum streets in return for $5,150.

Mrs. Ada Mayo filed suit for divorce in the superior court yesterday against her husband, Charles D. Mayo, alleging that he has abused her and drinks heavily.

ANOTHER NEW ENTERPRISE FOR ATLANTA

A View in the Plant of the Southern Supply and Electric Company.

Atlanta as an electrical trade center is well known, and it is with pleasure that we mention the organization of the Southern Supply and Electric Company, 52 and 54 South Forsyth street, this city, which company bids fair to take a leading part in this industry. This company was organized only three months ago, and has met with almost instantaneous success. One of the features of this company is its Electric Repair Shops, a view of which is shown above. These shops are fitted up with the latest improved machinery for doing all kinds of electrical repairs, from the largest electric generators and motors, down to the smallest electric fans.

A Constitution reporter in visiting these shops found a corps of skilled electricians and mechanics busily engaged in repairing motors, generators, electric transformers, fans and a miscellaneous lot of other electrical apparatus, not alone for Atlanta concerns, but for others scattered over this and adjoining states. The company are also dealers in electrical machinery and supplies, and make a specialty of installing complete outfits, as well as doing all kinds of electric wiring. They are the exclusive southern representatives of several large manufacturers of electrical machinery and supplies, and are doing a large business already in these lines. This company also does a large business in selling Electric Railway supplies, they being exclusive sales agents in the south for the R. D. Nuttall Co., Pittsburg, Pa., the largest manufacturers of steel cut Gears and Pinions and Trolleys in the world; the Mayer & Englund Co., Philadelphia, Pa., one of the largest manufacturers and dealers in Electric Railway supplies in this country, including "Keystone" standard Line Material, Protected Rail Bonds and International Fare Registers. This company also represents the Mica Insulator Co., and Eugene Munsell & Co., New York, manufacturers of all kinds of insulating material and whose products are considered standard the world over. This department of the company's business is already well established, they having on their books as customers over three-fourths of the Electric Railways of the south.

Mr. H. M. Lofton, president of the company, is well known among industrial concerns throughout the south, having been connected with a number of leading companies of this kind. He was also superintendent of the Savannah water works for several years and later general manager of the Electric Railway System of that city.

Mr. S. L. Rich, secretary and treasurer of the company, is a graduate of the Georgia School of Technology, also Cornell university, and for the past few years has been actively engaged in the electrical business. Both of these gentlemen are well known, having a score of friends who wish them the greatest success in their new enterprise.

HEARING GIVEN ON CITY BILLS

Mayor and Council Before the Judiciary Committee.

North Atlanta Residents Were Also There to Protest Against Extension of Limits—City Don't Want Extension If Representation Must Be Given.

Declaring that they did not want the city limits of Atlanta extended, if they were required to give representation in council to the residents of what is known as north Atlanta, the mayor and council yesterday left the matter with the general judiciary committee of the house, which will take a vote on the city charter bills at its next meeting and report them to the house.

There were only two points in the proposed charter bill to which any strong opposition was made. These were with regard to extending the city limits and the provision which proposes to give the city council unlimited power in levying license taxes.

The committee room was well crowded. Mayor Evan P. Howell and half the members of the city council were there. President R. F. Maddox, of the chamber of commerce, and several members of that institution were present. Residents of north Atlanta were also present to express their views with regard to the proposed extension of the city limits, and they did so emphatically.

President R. F. Maddox, of the chamber of commerce, appeared before the committee to oppose that provision of the city charter bill giving the city the right to impose an unlimited license tax on any business it might see fit to put it on. The present limit to the license taxing power of the city government is $200. Mr. Maddox presented urgent reasons why the amendment removing this limit should not be adopted. It would be too great a power to confer upon the city council. He gave an instance in which the larger electrical supply companies had succeeded in having the license tax on that business put up to $100. The result was many of the smaller electricians were driven out of business. This might be done in other cases.

Mr. Hall, of Bibb, said he didn't think this city or any other should have the right to levy any license tax at all.

Mr. Maddox said he hoped other members of the committee would agree with Mr. Hall with regard to the Atlanta charter amendment.

Against Extension.

John L. Tye then spoke against the proposed extension of the city limits, unless certain concessions were made and certain benefits given to North Atlanta. He made comparisons with West End. The property of north Atlanta is worth $3,000,000 as compared with values of $1,550,000 in West End. The population of West End and north Atlanta are about the same, 3,000. Yet West End was made a separate ward, and given two councilmen and an alderman, while it is not proposed to give north Atlanta any represenation whatever.

"I am speaking merely as an individual citizen," Mr. Tye said. "I think north Atlanta should come into the city, but I don't believe it should be brought in unreservedly and without being given reciprocal benefits. We want the sewers extended and improved beyond the possibility of creating a nuisance. It is not fair to annex us onto a shoe string beginning almost in the heart of the city, and making us a part of another ward. Our only safe guarantee is in giving us representation. If we get our councilmen and alderman we are willing to take our chances when it comes to getting our rights, and to redistricting the city."

Attorney Lewis W. Thomas said nine-tenths of the people of north Atlanta were opposed to extension under the proposed plan. The people should have the right to express themselves at the ballot box.

"They want to annex us on the cold-blooded reposition to get money out of us tot pay for this park thhe have bought," he said.

He denied that the city had arranged to give north Atlanta a school. It is an old barn, he said, located in a sporting park. We are paying now for all the benefits we get out there, and the section is a source of great revenue to the city.

Attorney Alex King said the residents of north Atlanta wanted proper arrangements made with regard to the sewers. The present sewer branches in that section are nuisances. He had told the city council, he said, that the residents of north Atlanta would withdraw their objections to the extension of limits if they would provide in the bill before the legislature that the section annexed should have proper sewer facilities and protection from the sewer branches; representation in council, a school and fire protection.

"Let them put those things in the bill," said Mr. King. "That is the best guarantee of it, and if they do that we are willing to come within the city limits."

It is a plain business proposition, Thomas Egleston asserted. All the residents of north Atlanta wanted was their just rights. North Atlanta wants her councilmen and her alderman.

"Put that in the bill," he said, "and then we can protect our rights and take care of ourselves."

"Are you willing to come into the city if provision is made in the bill for giving you representation in council?" asked Judge Akin.

Mr. Egleston replied in the affirmative.

Opposed Representatives.

Mayor Howell urged the passage of the bill as it stood. He denied that there was any agreement to the effect that north Atlanta was to come in after the next census as one of the speakers had stated. Mr. King said the charter committee of forty-nine had voted that it was not advisable to take in north Atlanta at that time. Mayor Howell said he was a member of that committee and had never heard of any such proposition as to coming in in 1910.

"The whole nut in the kernel, gentlemen," said Mayor Howell, "is simply that those people out there don't want to pay the 1¾ per cent tax. That's society town out there. You can't tell where the city line is. A northern man asked me once how long Peachtree street was. I told him a mile and a half. He said he had met hundreds of people from Atlanta and everyone of them told him they lived on Peachtree street. He though it must be a mile and a half long."

North Atlanta had only about 125 voters and yet they wanted two councilmen and an alderman, and wanted to come in on the same footing with wards of 2,000 inhabitants. That was what the city council and the other wards of the city objected to. There are some men out there who are tax dodgers, Mayor Howell declared. The reason West End came in on such good terms was that it was incorporated, had its own school house and had built its own sewers. The new school promised by the city to West End had just been completed after seven years. North Atlanta should come in and take her chances along with other sections of the city. They have people out there who know how to take care of their interests and they won't get left, he said. He had agreed to purchase Piedmont park, he said, on the understanding that north Atlanta would come into the city. The park has now been bought. Property in north Atlanta recently sold for $5,000 an acre. It was proximity to Atlanta that did it.

Councilman Quillian urged the passage of the bill without extending representation to north Atlanta. There was a dispute as to the number of voters in north Atlanta. Councilman Quillian said it was 130; John S. Owens claimed it was 260. North Atlanta should come in, permit the city to be redistricted under the plan proposed, and then it would get its representation in council. He opposed giving that section representation pending redistricting the city, because he said it was wrong to give so small a population representation along with other city wards with 2,000 and 2,200 voters.

Councilman Quillian also urged that the city should be given the right to impose an unlimited license tax for the purpose of protecting the city's merchants from outsiders who bring large stocks of goods here at holiday times and compete with them.

Alderman James G. Woodward strongly opposed giving the new section representation until the city had been redistricted. The large wards of the city, he said, would not submit to it.

Mayor Howell said in reply to a question that two acts fixing the boundaries of certain wards would have to be repealed before the city could be redistricted.

As It Is Or Not At All.

"I think I represent the views of the city council," said City Attorney James L. Mayson, "when I say if this territory had not agreed to come into the city, the city would not have paid $98,000 for the park. Council understood it was agreeable. If we were mistaken it was our fault and not theirs.

"If your committee sees fit to make this a separate ward and give it representation, we do not want it taken in."

"We do not," came in a chorus from the councilmen and aldermen who were seated together in one corner.

"When we had the conference with representatives from north Atlanta," continued Mr. Mayson, "the city stated it would not make this a separate ward."

Asked as to the representative of north Atlanta, Mr. Mayson named Mr. Andrews.

"Where is he?" demanded Mr. Thomas. "I want to confront him. He does not represent the people of north Atlanta."

"If we were mistaken," went on Mr. Mayson, "then we don't want to take in that section of the city. All the city's finances are apportioned according to wards, each ward getting one-seventh under the present plan. It would be unfair to have that section with so few inhabitants come in and get one-eighth of the city's revenue. We made a mistake when we took in West End on the terms we did, and we don't want to make such a mistake again."

Mr. Mayson also appealed for some modification of the present license tax section. Under the present plan the limit is $200 where there is no ad valorem tax and $50 where an ad valorem tax is paid. As an instance, he said the Piedmont hotel pays an ad valorem tax of only $50 license for its big business, while the Jackson hotel, which pays no ad valorem tax, could be made to pay $200. The system was wrong, he said, and the city wanted it corrected.

The hearing was concluded with an appeal from Lewis W. Thomas that the city be given power to condemn and cover over Tanyard branch whenever it might be able to do so. This should be done for the protection of the health and of the property of the people who live in that section.

The committee adjourned without taking action. A vote will probably be taken on the city bills at the next meeting of the committee tomorrow afternoon.

The Casino.

There will be matinee and night performances at the Ponce de Leon Casino today, and the fact that the ever popular Wells-Dunne-Harlan Bijou Musical Comedy Company will furnish the entertaining, means that there is a magnet of sufficient strength to give ground to the declaration that the cosy summer theater will be filled to its capacity at both appearances of Little Chip, Mary Marble and the other favorites of the organization.

The bill of entertainment is quite away from the usual run of work of this organization. In other words, there is no fixed story to be told, no plot to be unwound, and but one end in view, that of making merry. The entertainment starts out with a skit that serves to introduce Little Chip, Mary Marble, Tony Hart, John Early, Will Hatter, Pearl Early, Marie Fonchonetti, Dan Marble, May Linden and the other principals in characters in which they have scored great successes. It also serves to bring on the Musical Maidens, and there are more specialties and musical numbers crowded in the same space of time than ever before.

It is a bare possibility that the company will remain at the Casino for next week. It is rehearsing "Little Host" for Richmond for next week, but telegrams have been sent to Mr. Wells asking his permission for the organization to play that musical comedy here. It is possible that the booking on the Wells circuit can be so arranged as to permit this welcome change of affairs, and if it is possible to do so, a message from Mr. Wells will bring the news some time today.

At any rate, the company has not gone yet. There is a mighty good bill on, and including today's two performances there are still five more bits of sure fire entertainment to go on.

Games Played Today.

Atlanta in Memphis.
Nashville in Little Rock.

New Orleans, July 20.—(Special.)—As the result of Sullivan's error in the fifteenth inning, when a double play seemed easy, with Dick Crozier on second, after he had sent a smashing two-bagger to deep center, Atlanta defeated New Orleans today by the close score of 1 to 0. It was one of the most intensely interesting games ever played on the home grounds, and throughout the struggle Smith, the Crackers' star twirler, showed himself head and hands over Babe Brown.

Umpire Pfeninger intended calling the game at the end of the fifteenth inning on account of darkness. It was nearly 7 o'clock when Crozier raced across the plate amid tumultuous applause with the winning run, while the crowd jeered Sullivan for his inexcusable stupidity in allowing Holly's easy throw to get away from him.

As soon as Holly shot the ball over toward first, Crozier, who had gone down to third on Krug's drive to short, started for the home plate like a frightened deer. Nothing appeared to stop him, and it was several minutes before he realized that he tallied the winning run on an error and an out.

The game was a prolonged pitchers' battle from flag fall to finish. Babe Brown started in to pitch for the locals like a wild man, and for the first three innings he had no control, while his opponent (Smith) shot strikes over the plate with frightful regularity.

The Atlanta twirler had superb control, and every time a Pelican swatter faced him it was either an infield out or a strike-out.

He gave up only three scattered singles in the whole contest. Atlanta touched Brown up for ten safeties, but they, too, were scattered, which accounts for the extra innings. Smith was too much for the Pelicans, and if the game had gone another inning Brown would have gone out of business.

Crozier's Hard Drive.

In the fifteenth inning Crozier, the second man up, got a two-bagger. His drive unnerved the crowd, coming at such an unseasonable time for the home team. Brown got rattled again, and he sent Stafford to first on balls. Krug followed with a hot grounder to short, forcing Stafford at second. Holly made the put-out and fired the ball to catch Krug at first for a double, but Sullivan dropped the ball and Crozier scored.

The next man up was an easy out, but New Orleans failed to score in their half and the longest played game of the season, following the fourteen-inning contest Monday, which was won by New Orleans, went to the Crackers.

Crozier's batting was the feature. He got three hits out of six times up, and his fielding was perfect. Smith had thirteen strike-outs, and his club had twelve men left on bases.

ATLANTA PLAYS IN MEMPHIS.

The Next Four Games Will Decide Third Place Now Occupied By Atlanta.

The fight for third place is now on. Atlanta left New Orleans last night for Memphis and will open up with the revivified Mummies this afternoon in Whistler's back yard.

Some time ago Demont left Atlanta with his ball team and said that he would take half the games on the road. So far the Crackers have won fire games and lost seven. Three of the losses are credited to Nashville. The last game of the double header in Nashville may not be counted. This matter will be decided as soon as Newt Fisher and his crew reach Little Rock.

The last series played by Atlanta with New Orleans was a record breaker. The Atlanta batters secured 26 hits to the Pelicans 18, but were only able to land one game. The Atlanta pitchers did magnificent work, but did not have the proper support in pinch hitting.

These two teams fought out thirty-eight innings in playing three games. This is probably the record in the south. Yesterday's game of fourteen innings without a score holds a place by itself in the Southern League.

OTHER BASEBALL GAMES.

Cordele 20, Tennille 3.

Cordele, Ga., July 20.—(Special.)—Cordele made it three straights by winning from Tennille today in a very one-sided game. The feature of the game was the heavy hitting of the locals and the ragged fielding of the visitors. Bagwell, who pitched for Cordele, was wild in the second inning and forced in two runs, otherwise he pitched an excellent game.

Score:		R.	H.	E.
Cordele	.030526040—20	18	3
Tennille	.020000100—3	2	9

Batteries—Bagwell and Middlebroks; Davenport, Strader, Westbrook and Quarrels.

Newnan 3, Vienna 0.

Newnan, Ga., July 20.—(Special.)—Newnan continued her winning streak this afternoon by defeating Vienna in the third game of the series by the score of 5 to 0. The feature of the game was the phenomenal pitching of Rucker, for the locals, who struck out fourteen of Vienna's heavy batters, and didn't give up a single hit. This makes Newnan's fourteenth victory, with only one game lost and one tie game. Batteries—Newnan, Rucker and Woodward; Vienna, Hogan and Streety.

Tucker 13, Norcross 5.

Tucker, Ga., July 20.—(Special.)—Tucker defeated Norcross in an interesting game of ball here today by a score of 13 to 5. The features were a running catch by Ray, of Norcross, and the pitching of Akins, of the locals, striking out seventeen men. Batteries—Tucker, Akins and Wright; Norcross, McElroy and Brown.

Ocilla 12, Fitzgerald 1.

Ocilla, Ga., July 20.—(Special.)—Ocilla won a one-sided game from Fitzgerald today by the score of 12 to 1. Johnson, for Ocilla, held the visitors down to six hits. aMrtin and Chapel gave up sixteen hits. This is the fifth straight game Ocilla has won in the new ball park. Batteries—Fitzgerald, Martin, Chapel and Hanley; Ocilla, Johnson and Bruce.

Opelika 2, West Point 1.

The Opelika baseball team came to West Point yesterday and defeated the locals in an interesting game by the score of 2 to 1. The game was closely played, lasting for ten innings. Neither side scored until the seventh inning. McPherson, the West Point catcher, had his hand broken in the seventh inning. Batteries: Opelika, Cherry and Wilkerson; West Point, Harner and McPherson and Avery.

Knoxville 3, Huntsville 2.

Huntsville, Ala., July 20.—(Special.)—Logan held Knoxville down to two hits, but Huntsville failed to win by poor base running. Knoxville 3, Huntsville 2. Bateries—Akers and White; Logan and Fisher.

What would a barbecue be without beer?

SSS FOR THE BLOOD

The best known and most popular blood purifier and tonic on the market to-day is S. S. S.

There is hardly a man, woman or child in America who has not heard of "S. S. S. for the blood." It is a standard remedy and specific for all blood troubles and an unequaled spring tonic and appetizer. S. S. S. is guaranteed purely vegetable, the herbs and roots of which it is composed being selected for their alterative and tonic properties, making it the ideal remedy for all blood and skin diseases, as it not only purifies and invigorates the blood, but at the same time tones up the tired nerves and strengthens the general system.

Your S. S. S., in my opinion, is as good a medicine as can be had; it simply cannot be improved upon as a remedy to enrich the blood and to invigorate and tone up the system. This spring my blood was bad and I was run down in health, and having seen your medicine highly advertised I commenced its use. To-day my blood is in fine condition and my general health is of the best. Am fireman for a large concern here, and if I was not in good physical condition it would be impossible for me to fill the place. S. S. S. has been of great service to me. I do not hesitate to give it the credit it deserves. WM. F. VAN DYKE. 815 Fifth St., Beaver Falls, Penn.

For Chronic Sores and Ulcers, Catarrh, Rheumatism, Blood Poison, Malaria, Anæmia, Eczema, Psoriasis, Salt Rheum, Tetter, Acne, and such other diseases as are due to a polluted or impoverished condition of the blood, nothing acts so promptly and effectually as S. S. S. It counteracts and eradicates the germs and poisons; cleanses the system of all unhealthy accumulations, and soon restores the patient to health. If you need medical advice write us about your case, and your letter will receive prompt attention from our physicians, for which no charge is made.

UNDERTONE WAS STEADY IN COTTON

Very Little Offering and Prices Were Bid Up Late.

AFTERWARDS EASED OFF.

July and August Closed 1 Point Lower, While the New Crop Deliveries Were 6 to 9 Points Higher—Trade Quiet.

New York, July 20.—The cotton market opened weak at a decline of 11 to 13 points on the old crop and of 4 to 10 points on the new crop months. The declines were due to moderate liquidation prompted by weakness in the Liverpool market, talk of complications in the European political situation as a result of the Red sea episode, generally favorable private crop reports and continued favorable weather. But just as has been the case recently a fair demand developed at the decline to around 9½c for the new crop positions, and Liverpool rallying soon after the local opening with reports of additional spot sales in that market and talk of a better turn in the Far East owing to rumors as to the release of British steamships, the seizure of which by the Russians had precipitated the early anxiety, prices here gradually began to improve and before long had recovered almost all the initial loss. Trading was quiet during the entire session, but the market continued to show a steady undertone and very little cotton appeared to be offering with the result that prices in the late trading sold up to a net advance of 15 to 18 points on the new crop, while the near months, being dull and neglected, failed to fully respond to the firmness in the latter positions. The market toward the close eased off somewhat from the best, but was finally steady at a net decline of 1 point on the old crop months, while later deliveries were net 6 to 9 points higher. Sales estimated at 150,000 bales.

The New Orleans Cotton Market.

New Orleans, July 20.—Spot cotton in fair demand from exporters, but offerings were very light. Sales 1,500 bales, including 400 to arrive. Quotations unchanged.

Futures opened steady with prices 5 to 10 points lower, influenced by the condition of the Liverpool market at the time our market opened. Private cavles reported that England was taking a belligerent attitude toward Russia and the Liverpool market all but went to pieces in consequence. The weather map was ideal, and reports from the country could not have been better. With all this, no one displayed any great desire to sell short, and offerings were limited. The demand was fairly good and in consequence the undertone was strong. Shorts showed a desire to take profits and some buying for long account was in evidence, and prices soon went well above yesterday's close, especially for the new crop positions. In the trading August first post 16 points lower at 10.34, advanced to 10.59 and finally declined to 10.53. The market closed steady with July unchanged. August gained net 3 points and the new crop months 5 to 9 points.

The Dry Goods Market.

New York, July 20.—While a better tone is still manifest in the majority of lines, yet actual business in dry goods has not shown much enlargement. Sellers show increasing independence, and according to recent estimates of curtailment, the outlook for firmness is especially bright.

MARKET REVIEWS

Cothran & Co.

COTTON—There was no change noticeable in the market today—just the same steady, resisting undertone and the same steady buying of cotton by those who regard discretion as the better part of valor. If the market won't go down under perfect conditions, why it's likely to go up with any change. Thus far there is no change in sight. Weather is simply perfect. But will it continue so? If you will turn back to 1898, one of the two record crops, you will find the condition went off 12 points in August. We always get damage talk in August. It may not be so this year, but it always has been in the past. Now it is an open question whether, with the market so heavily short, prices can be kept down when the crop reports become less glorious. It may be, of course, that new cotton will move so freely that prices will not hold. It may be, but as yet there are no signs of this. Rather the tone seems to get stronger as the month progresses. Here October ran up to 9.60 on Saturday, 9.61 Monday, 9.62 yesterday and 9.68 today. This does not look like a declining market. It shows shorts are more or less uneasy. We cannot advise short selling when the crop has only now reached the critical period.

WHEAT—There was a rush to buy at the start, due to higher markets abroad and lower consols that brought fears of foreign complications, but a great deal of long wheat was for sale with offerings of July so large that prices broke badly, the selling pressure being increased by London cabling that Russia had to apologize to England. Sentiment was bearish with Liverpool losing its advance and glowing reports coming from the spring wheat regions, while holders became discouraged and threw over the futures. Slight recoveries occurred but with further declines appearing we would favor covering of snorts and taking on some wheat for a moderate profit.

CORN The crowd was bearish on the fine weather, but the Iowa crop report said the stand was below an average, owing to poor seed, while the outlook in the southwest was none too favorable. There was some commission house selling of July, but replaced with September purchases. Sentiment is somewhat mixed, although many in the trade think prices should work lower.

OATS—Receipts light, but low grades slow of sale; 200,000 bushels new oats reported sold yesterday and today at 4c over September c. i. f. Buffalo September shipment. Crop prospects in the northwest were fine, but heavy rains in Iowa were a bullish factor, although the break in wheat started selling of September and December. We regard oats as cheap, and would favor purchases on soft spots.

PROVISIONS were very weak in sympathy with a sharp decline in hogs, more being on the market than wanted, and there was selling of September ribs and lard by Armour brokers. Sentiment was bearish on rumors of an early strike settlement, and if confirmed will result in a big run of hogs.

HOGS—Irregular in its movements today, the stock market, however erratic, did not show weakness, and the influence of foreign complications was thrown off. Manipulation for the rise continued, and it is evident from the day's operations that the best plan for quick returns is to buy stocks that suddenly become bullishly active on a rising volume, taking small profits. In this way the movement will not be missed and the best results will be attained. The operations today show the same aggressiveness heretofore remarked, and while it may safely be said that a reaction is long overdue, so long as so many watch for it, it will hardly materialize.

The Howell Jones Co.

COTTON—Cotton futures opened weak at a decline of 4 to 13 points, the old crop months showing the greatest weakness. Liverpool cables were disappointing in consequence of the unfavorable foreign situation, and the foreign houses here had selling orders. Sentiment in the pit was bearish, and while there were some supporting orders the feeling generally favored the short side of the account. The trade was largely local, and many of the pit interests were inclined to scalp the market. The statistics attracted but little attention, the average being about as expected. In the late market the feeling turned strong and the prices advanced several points on buying by shorts. The houses with southern connection also had good buying orders and the demand from this source held prices up very generally, but at the same time there were quite heavy offerings at the highest prices. The receipts at the ports today were 3,733, against 683 last year. Liverpool is due to come 4 to 5 up tomorrow.

WHEAT—There was extensive realizing in the what pit today, the natural consequence of favorable crop reports and better weather. The cables were firm, but they seemed to have little effect. On the lower prices there was some support, but generally the wheat coming out seemed to be a little heavy. The statistics were about as expected. Manipulative operations were noted; and it was evident that the market would continue rather ragged pending a more definite understanding of the situation abroad.

CORN—The corn market was quiet and narrow. There was fair offering on the better levels. There was some talk of damage in portions of Missouri, but the general crop situation was figured to be quite favorable. The receipts were small, but there was a light cash demand, while the export business was slow. The country offerings were moderate. Elevator interests were still figured to be making much contract stuff.

OATS—The oats market was influenced by the action of other cereals. There was some irregularity, but generally the offerings filled the demand. The crop news generally was bearish.

PROVISIONS—Provisions were less steady in consequence of more liberal hog receipts. The market, however, was small and unimportant.

Southern Exchange.

COTTON—The opening of the cotton market this morning was controlled almost entirely by cables and the favorable weather throughout the entire cotton belt. The Liverpool market was weak and there was a sharp break in the price of cotton futures there, but by the time our market opened prices had rallied somewhat. Old options declined most readily, these being weakest in the Liverpool market, partly on account of the disturbed political situation. Shorts covering after the first few minutes of trading caused a moderate rally. Weather reports from the cotton belt continue to be of a most favorable nature, and it is doubted if the growing crop ever had better weather than it is having at present. Everything so far indicates a yield which will rank among the largest on record and it is owing to this fact that we have been repeatedly advising the sale of cotton on all rallies. With the present indications of a bumper crop in sight, we look to see the price of the new crop deliveries sell in the neighborhood of 8c. We again advise the sale of cotton at present prices.

FEELING BULLISH AT THE OPENING

Due to Heavy Rains in Northwest and Higher Cables.

PROFIT TAKING FOLLOWED.

September Closed Weak 5-8c Lower. Corn Lost 1-4 to 3-8c and Oats 1-8 to 1-4c—Provisions 7 1-2 to 10c Lower.

Chicago, July 20.—New wheat arriving liberally and alleged decreasing likelihood of serious complications in foreign affairs caused heavy liquidation of wheat today, September closed ⅝c lower, corn is off ¼@⅜c, oats ⅛@¼c down and provisions 7½ to 20c lower.

At the opening today sentiment in wheat was decidedly bullish. September opened up ½@⅝c to ¾@⅞c at 88¼@88½c. The causes for this feeling of strength were heavy rains during the night in Iowa, Nebraska Kansas and Indiana and a sharp advance at Liverpool in the face of a weakness here yesterday. A possibility of trouble arising between Great Britain and Russia was the main factor in the foreign situation, and was responsible for an additional decline in consols, which in turn had a buoyant effect on wheat here. With good profits in sight there was a great deal of long wheat for sale, offerings of July being especially liberal, while shorts were active bidders at the start. A report that Russia had disavowed the act of its commander in the Red Sea was construed as lessening the probability of any complication, and this was responsible for considerable selling. Another bear factor was the prospects of a free movement of new wheat. Prices continued to decline until late in the day. The low point on September was reached at 86¾ it closing at 87@87¼c, July sold between 93@96c and closed at 93½c. Clearances equaled 150,900 bushels. Primary receipts were 379,300, against 487,400 a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported 211 cars, against 230 last week and 174 a year ago.

In sympathy with wheat, corn ruled firm at the start. The market lacked any definite support, and became quite weak toward the end of the first hour. September opened ⅛@¼c higher at 49⅝@49¾c, sold off to 49c and closed at 49⅛@49¼c. Receipts 130 cars, 3 of contract.

Liquidation by local holders, due to the slump in other grains, caused an easier tone in oats. Crop advices were not very good and support was lacking when most needed. September opened a shade lower to a shade higher at 33@33⅛c, sold down to 32¾ and closed at 32⅞c. Receipts were 70 cars.

Uncertainty regarding the strike, together with heavy hog receipts with lower prices, caused weakness in provisions. There was only a small trade, packers doing most of the selling. September pork closed 20c lower at $12.70, lard 7½c off at $6.85 and ribs 12½@15c lower at $7.45.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 16 cars; corn 183 cars; oats 116 cars; hogs 11,000 head.

National Cotton Co.

COTTON—After the holiday of yesterday in Liverpool anticipations of a better market in that quarter were dissipated by cables that were very disappointing to the trade on this side, being weak in tone, and at a decline of 4 to 13 points. In this slump the old crop positions suffered to a greater extent than the near. The opening on this side was 5 to 20 points below last night's final figures, and international affairs becoming more and more strained, coupled with a large volume of selling orders furnished by the foreigners to their houses on this side, tended to create a much more bearish sentiment than has heretofore prevailed. While the support came out in fair volume on the lower levels, the sentiment as a rule was bearish, and the latter part of the session was devoted to scalping operations on both sides. Receipts today were about as expected and cut but small figure in the day's transactions. We are still friendly to the short side and think there is good money to be made there.

Miller & Co.

COTTON—In spite of good crop advices and in the face of danger of political complications abroad shorts took fright when a little extra pressure was applied to them and the uncovering of stop orders carried prices 15 points higher than last night before the demand exhausted itself. The partial relapse just before the close leaves the winter months about 7 points higher than last night. A remarkable feature was the indifference shown by the old crop, the scare being entirely confined to the big short interest in the winter months, which, by the way, has been materially reduced today. A ridiculous story was circulated to the effect that the New Orleans bulls are long about 100,000 bales of July. This talk began about the time shorts were beginning to feel nervous. Just then one of the New Orleans crowd began bidding for July, and shorts did not stop to notice that he was bidding 3 points under last night's figures when the balance of the list was up 7 or 8, but rushed in to cover at once, and put up prices on one another until the demand was exhausted, after which there was a relapse. As Europe is directly interested in any complications which may arise over Russia's action in the Red sea, we must look to Liverpool to see how trade will take the latest developments. If spinners continue to buy as they have been doing of late, and prices there do not decline, it must follow that little anxiety is felt on this score. On the other hand, if European markets show weakness we will take it as an indication that until the political atmosphere is clear the market will be more susceptible to good crop news or other bearish features. Liverpool is due to come tomorrow 1 higher on old and 5 up on new crops.

WHEAT—Increasing receipts in the southwest and abundant evidence of free arrivals of the new crop in the next few days checked further bull effort and gave the market a moderate reaction for the deferred futures and a sharp break for the July option. Lower consols, coupled with the tone of the press dispatches relating to the British-Russian affair, stronger cables and reported damage in the Red river valley caused the opening rally. As the session wore on the force of each of these items was lost. Reports from the Red river valley were conflicting, but the burden of the advices led to the assumption that no serious damage has taken place.

CORN—Corn sold off along with wheat. Brokers identified with the long interest were thought to be selling moderately as opportunity offered early in the session. The July option was the weakest and the December strongest. Aside from the cables reporting rain needed in Roumania and the poor quality of local receipts there was little to encourage the holder. Demand for shipment east is slow and moisture in portions of the belt combined with summer temperatures is just what is needed to push growth. The sample market was ½ lower OATS—Oats were largely a sympathetic market. Trade was light and unimportant and the close showed a fractional loss for the day.

PROVISIONS—The market turned weak today. Speculation is still light, but the hog market was weak on larger receipts than anticipated, and the consensus of opinion favors an early settlement of the strike, as the position of the men is thought to be a weak one. Estimated receipts tomorrow 11,000.

L. J. Anderson & Co.

COTTON—Liverpool this morning was a disappointment, in that an advance of 3 to 4 points was due, but instead the near months were 7 to 12 points lower, while the distant month were 1 point down. Spot was reduced 20 points to 6.30 for middling; sales 8,000 bales. The weakness in Liverpool was attributed to the unfavorable foreign situation. In New York the near months opened 11 to 13 points lower, while the new crop positions showed declines of 4 to 10 points in response to Liverpool's decline. Sentiment continues bearish, but at the opening decline there was little cotton for sale and a covering movement started which carried prices up to about Tuesday's closing prices. The old crop positions were weakest. There is apparently some hesitancy on the part of the shorts to enter into further extensive ventures, and that they stand ready to cover is evidenced by the action of the market the past few days. Present figures are cheap, taking into consideration the fact that the market is sold to a standstill on weather and crop news that can hardly show further improvement. The close today was 1 point lower on July and August and 6 to 9 points up on the later months. Port receipts today 3,733 bales, against 683 last year.

WHEAT—The opening in wheat showed an advance of good proportions, due to higher cables and the disturbed situation in the Far East. September at 88¾ to 88½c was ½@⅞c higher at the start. It afterwards sold at 88½ to 88⅝c on active buying by shorts. At this price heavy liquidation commenced on the better weather, prices declining rapidly to 86¾, closing ⅝c lower at 87⅛c. Primary receipts 379,300 bushels, against 487,400 last year; clearances 150,900 bushels wheat and flour.

CORN—Sentiment in corn was bullish at the start, September opening ⅛ to ¼c highe, at 49⅝@49¾c, but on the break in wheat the market turned weak and at the close was near the low point ¼ to ⅜c lower at 49⅛ to 49¼c.

OATS—Oats followed the other cereals. September closing ⅛ to ¼c lower at 32⅞c.

PROVISIONS—An easier tone was induced by liberal receipts of hogs and lower prices. Trade was light. At the close September product was 7½ to 20c lower.

WHY WAS WARD LINE CHANGED?

Change Is Discussed by Candidate for Alderman.

When the general council committee to redistrict the city met yesterday morning a change was made in the line between the proposed new fourth and third wards by moving it from Grant west to Hill street.

Just why this change was made was not stated, but now it is intimated that the change was brought about for the purpose of allowing a certain candidate to run for alderman.

This year the old third ward is entitled to an alderman, and the two candidates are Councilman Sid Holland and ex-Councilman Warren. If the line between the new third and fourth wards had remained along Grant street, both Mr. Holland and Mr. Warren would have been in the new third ward. As the new third ward embraces a portion of the old second, it includes the residence of Alderman Girardeau, and as he holds over, no new alderman could be elected in the new third.

But that is not all of the trouble. Under the new ward system, Mr. Warren will be in the ward with Mr. Girardeau, while Mr. Holland will be the only candidate in the new fourth.

Now the complaint comes from Mr. Warren, who says he has heard it intimated that the change was made in the line between the new third and fourth wards because it would let Mr. Holland stay in the race for alderman. Mr. Holland is a member of the committee to redistrict the city, but the motion to change the line did not come from him.

"The thing looks a little queer," said ex-Councilman Warren yesterday afternoon. "I have heard no good reasons advanced for changing that line from Grant to Hill street. You know Mr. Holland lives at No. 411 East Fair street, which is just half a block east of Hill street, and just lets him in the new fourth ward. I want to run against Holland, and I want to know why that line was changed to let him in and shut me out."

EARLY GAINS WIPED OUT

Considerable Net Losses Were Established in Some Important Stocks—Transactions Show a Sharp Increase—Bonds Were Firm.

New York, July 20.—The weak closing of today's stock market followed a day of well maintained firmness, up to within 15 minutes of the closing, when prices fell between 1 and 2 points all through the list, establishing considerable net loss at some points. For the greater part of the day speculative sentiment seemed to maintain its indifference to events or suggestions of a threatening nature. The opening demand proved ample to absorb the offerings for London account and the fractional recessions were quickly recovered. The speculative leaders watched the course of the market with apparent complacency until the London liquidation was concluded when they resumed aggressive operations for the advance. The market then resumed the character which it has displayed consistently all through the recent rise of brisk advances in a few influential stocks, with steady profit taking sales at points which have previously advanced. This profit taking was especially manifest in Atchison and Brooklyn Transit, which made their advances yesterday. The role of leader again reverted to Union Pacific, which stock has been the backbone of the recent rise throughout.

United States Steel preferred was an influential factor in sustaining the market up to the late break. There was no news to account for the sudden letting down, and a rush to take profits owing to growing scepticism of the stability of the market was the generally supposed cause of the weakness. Reactions of 1 to 2 points generally wiped out the earlier gains and established considerable net losses in some important stocks.

SHORT ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST

GROVER DYER, A 13-YEAR-OLD boy, who sustained injuries caused by being thrown off a horse Tuesday afternoon, died yesterday morning at 3 o'clock. The boy was a stable boy and lived at 28½ Mitchell street. The sad accident to the boy caused much sorrow among his friends and everyone regrets his untimely death. The funeral will take place this morning and the body will be interred in Westview.

SOME DAYS AGO THE TRUSTEES of Gordon institute, Barnesville, Ga., elected Colonel J. C. Woodward to the presidency of that noted school for an indefinite term of office at the largest salary ever paid and every effort has been made to secure his acceptance. Several committees from Barnesville have waited on Colonel Woodward urging him to go to the Gordon institute, but after careful consideration he has decided to remain at the head of the Georgia Military academy at College Park, a school which admits but seventy boys and was founded by Colonel Woodward.

WHILE AT WORK LOADING A wagon with sacked flour at the plant of the Atlanta Milling Company, on Butler street, next to the county jail, at 8 o'clock last night, three negroes were painfully injured by a number of sacks of flour falling on them. One of the men suffered a severe fracture of the right foot that necessitated amputating that member at the ankle, while another had his right leg broken. The third negro was painfully bruised and was sent to his home. At the hospital the two injured men were put under the influence of chloroform as soon as they arrived there and their names could not be ascertained.

HOMER WAITS, A YOUNG WHITE man, 23 years old, employed as a brakeman for the Southern railway, was run over at the Peters street crossing at 8 o'clock last night and so badly crushed that he died later at Grady hospital. Waits was at work at the time of the accident and had started to cross the track in front of some moving cars when he was knocked down and run over. A hurry call was sent for a Grady hospital ambulance, and the young man was moved to that institution, where it was seen at a glance that the injuries sustained were fatal. Waits resided on South Boulevard with his mother, and was well known to a large circle of friends.

JUST WHEN THE TRIAL OF CALL Officer Sam T. Tibbs will be called before the board of police commissioners is not known. At the conclusion of the trial of Captain Moon the board adjourned subject to the call of the chairman. Since that time the father of Attorney McElreath became ill and Tibbs' attorney was compelled to absent himself from Atlanta for several days. Commissioner Nunnally is also away from the city, and will not return until Monday night, so it is hardly probable that the trial of Call Officer Tibbs will be started until next Tuesday evenng. Captain Moon has filed the different specifications against Tibbs and about fifty witnesses have been summoned.

F. J. YORK, THE CARPENTER who died at his home, No. 6 Lindsey street, Tuesday from the effects of an overdose of morphine, will be carried this morning to Meriwether county, where the funeral service will be held at the Flat Rock church.

DOUGLASS POSEY, A NEGRO, WAS shot and instantly killed at 9 o'clock last night at Bolton, by John Wilson, another negro, who escaped. The negroes quarreled over a trivial matter and when Posey started towards Wilson, evidently for the purpose of striking him, Wilson drew a revolver and shot him three times, causing instant death. The police were notified immediately of the shooting and they in turn communicated the fact to Chief Turner of the county force, who placed two of his men at work on the matter immediately.

ED CLARK, A NEGRO, WHO WAS shot Monday night and who died at Grady hospital Tuesday afternoon, was not shot at Charles Moseley's amusement park, on the river line, but at the park run by Thad Howard, another negro, 2 miles from Moseley's place, and at a point called Tampa park. The message received at police barracks the night of the shooting was to the effect that the shooting was at the park near Hollywood cemetery and as Moseley's place was the best known it was immediately taken for granted by the officers that the shooting was at Moseley's place. Moseley formerly ran a cafe on Auburn avenue and is well known in Atlanta. He says he does not allow disorderly conduct at his resort and will not tolerate misbehavior of any kind.

WHILE IN A CELL AT POLICE barracks yesterday morning Walter Stewart, a young white man, who is well and unfavorably known to the police, robbed a fellow prisoner of $3.55 and admitted it. Stewart and his victim were both charged with being drunk on the street and occupied the same cell. When they awoke yesterday morning Stewart had transferred the money contained in the pockets of his fellow-prisoner into his own.

PUNCH AVANT AND W. E. SNIPES, white men, engaged in a fight in the Big Bonanza saloon on Decatur street at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon and for a time it appeared as though there would be serious trouble. One of the men had a knife and the other is said to have had a pistol. The man who had the gun passed it to a friend who passed it to another and it was finally gotten out of the way. After Avant had been placed under arrest Snipes tried to strike him, but was prevented by the officer. Cases of disorderly conduct were made against both parties concerned and they will be tried in police court this afternoon.

A Lot on Ivy Street.

Just around the corner from Auburn ave. on Ivy street, we have a lot 50x150 for sale at $6,500. A simple calculation will convince any one that this is at the rate of $130 a front foot.

There are a number of good business concerns in Atlanta which could do as much business on this property as they could on property at $500 or $1,000 a front foot.

The lot is on the corner of the Marion Hotel alley, which gives easy access to the rear, and it is in a growing section of the city.

We can sell this lot on easy terms, and recommend it as an opportunity for some business enterprise to secure a home.

Forrest & George Adair.

WISHING AND WINNING

We read this; but it's good, so we push it along: "There's a vast difference between wishing and winning---many good men fail because their wishbone is where their backbone ought to be." The application is plain. If you wish for trade---go after it. That means you must advertise. The best advertising is the Best Printing. Let us know your wish and we'll do the rest.
